MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

MRS. A. W. CAMPBELL

Married 50 years and happy. This applies to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Campbell, 234 east Maple avenue, who are celebrating their golden anniversary in Birmingham and Detroit.

A. W. CAMPBELL

They were married in 1877 in Odessa, Ont. Mrs. Campbell's birthplace. She will be 74 years old tomorrow, and Mr. Campbell was 72 Apr. 6. Mrs. Campbell's maiden name was Martha Lee before her marriage.

The Campbells have one child living, Mrs. Charles J. Boyer, of Highland Park, who has four children, Harold, Robert, and the twins, Donald and Dorothy. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Dr. D. W. Campbell, died in 1922 two days after the death of his wife. He left two children, Daniel W. Jr. and Helen.

In honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, a dinner was given recently at the Hotel Cadillac Hotel, Detroit. A reception was also held at the home of Mrs. Boyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell have been an integral part of that growth. And, as they see it leaving their "village" and becoming more and more "city" they are glad. They have worked and helped, and they are happy.

TIPSY DRIVER GETS STIFF JAIL TERM

Detroit Man, Arrested After Chase Through Birmingham Streets

John Morrison is in jail today awaiting a sentence of 60 days which will be reduced to 30 days if he pays a $50 fine, as penalty for driving drunk. His operating license was also revoked for six months. He was arrested Sunday by Patrolman Edward Myers Adams road and Maple avenue west, after he had crowded another car off the road on south Woodward avenue. Patrolman Myers chased Morrison on a motor cycle from Woodward to Maple. Morrison gave his address as R. F. D. No. 7, Flint.

Morrison's companion, Nick Calogre, 2708 Michigan avenue, Flint, was fined $15 and paid court costs a drunk charge. They were arraigned before Judge Floyd S. Buck Monday.

WE HEARD IT SAID BY—

(Little Editorials picked up by the Staff in and around Birmingham)

Judge Floyd S. Buck, justice "There seems to me to be absolutely no object in this village's laying out more property for fire hall. It has plenty now. I particularly favor placing the fire hall on the site facing Pierce street. I think it would be better on the southeast corner of Henricks and Martin streets. It would be just as centrally located and it seems to me that the corner of Pierce and Martin, being the most desirable corner in the whole center, should be reserved for the fire hall. I think the village should go ahead and build the hall on the property it now owns."

Clarence M. Vliet, superintendent of schools "I would like to say a word in praise of the Monthly Review put out by Paul Avor, advertising manager of The Eccentric. It's a splendid little paper, and should be read by every person interested in the business of Birmingham. I think the idea of issuing it monthly is a very good one, and of great benefit to Birmingham business."

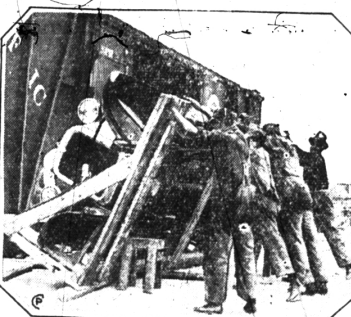

Mrs. Vida Freeman, proprietor of Freeman's beauty salon "At dressers held at the Hotel Walker, Detroit in January, the 'Spanish Girl,' a manner of dressing hair, which I originated, had second prize. Hairdressers from seven states were in attendance at the convention."

Mrs. Mary Gordon recently sang her role in "Resurrection" while "encased in mustard plasters," according to a dispatch. We assume the performance and plasters drew well.

With all their reprehensible characteristics, New York bootleggers seem to have a sense of humor—rather grim humor, it is true. In certain speakeasies, the metropolitan is served what is called a Campbell cocktail. Mr. Campbell, for whom the concoction is named, is a well-known undertaker.

MEXICO EARNS U. S. GOODS

In connection with the decree of President Calles that the Federal government of Mexico purchase nothing from the United States, shipments crossing the border have been refused. Photo above shows the last shipment of U. S. goods accepted by the Mexican government, as it is unloaded from the cars at Mexico City. Cancelled orders are being placed with European manufacturers.

BONSTELLE
Because of Detroit's preference for the most famous of American dramatists, Owen Bonstelle, the announcement that "Lazybones" from his pen, will be the next attraction at the Bonstelle Play house, will receive immediate response from local playgoers.

"Lazybones" described by New York critics as the best play ever written by this prolific and popular playwright, tells the story of the childish attitude toward life of a young man in the village of his name. The farmhouse is run down, and the fields untilled, but an indolgent mother makes allowance for his shortcomings.

When Lazybones returns from a fishing trip, with a baby he has adopted in the hardwood woods, the second act is laid sixteen years later, while the last act shows the adopted child as beautiful woman of twenty. By her own cry, she has transformed Lazybones into a prosperous garage owner. How Lazybones, suddenly the girl who really loves him, makes a splendid ending to this striking comedy-drama.

"Lazybones" is a strong comedy, with irritable, subtle interest. It is the kind of play American audiences like a lot, because of the clever character sketches, and the subtle humor. It is enjoyed tremendous popularity in New York where it had a long and successful run at the Vanderbilt Theatre, and is a play that Bonstelle patrons will enjoy to the fullest.

RENO CHILDREN PLAY 'DIVORCE'

The most popular children's game in Reno is "playing at having divorces," according to President Arthur Morgan of Antioch College, who recently visited the famous Nevada city where the divorces come from.

President Morgan, having discovered this startling fact about the Reno children, pondered its exact meaning in relation to education, and found that it proved the need of emphasizing "a sense of proportion" as the main aim of school and college. He pleads his case in the columns of the Woman's Home Companion.

"Colleges often assume," he writes, "that education consists in getting knowledge out of books and laboratories. But life has never entirely got into books. Real life has lessons to teach that can be learned nowhere else—lessons of common sense, of judging men and things, of checking theories by facts. It can teach young men and women to measure their strength, to be responsible.

"The interests of students as they come to college are, for the most part, accidental, acquired from the interests of their community, from

Note: Following are letters received by The Eccentric offering suggestions for the name of the new motion picture at Woodward and Maple.

Others will be printed as space permits.

MAPLEWOOD-PIETY HILL Motion Picture Editor: Because the new motion picture theater will be at Woodward and

Maple avenues I suggest it be called the "Maplewood." Also you might consider "Piety Hill." MRS. HARVEY WEALEN, Greenwood avenue

"LINDY" Motion Picture Editor: Please consider my name suggestion for the new theater. My choice would be the "Lindy" in honor of our great hero Col. Lindy Bergh. MRS. PAUL DEMERS, 204 Webster ave.

The BIG PARADE
By T. A. G.

A theatrical troupe arrived in New England towns late one evening to find that no accommodations were to be had in the only hotel that the place afforded. The land lord did not seem a bit affected by the sad plight of the tourists, but after much persuasion the old fellow said that they could sleep in an abandoned church across the street. For want of any other shelter they accepted, and retired for the night.

About two o'clock in the morning the landlord heard the church bell ringing vigorously and sent his son over to see what was the matter. Jake brought back the report: "They ain't nothing the matter, Pop, but the gent in pect twelve wants a couple of gin flizzes sent right over."

Anyway, we older fellows have the consolation of having lived in an age when the town baseball stadium had bookshelves in the fence.
