Values, too, Move Toward the Suburbs

JUST as in every great city, population is marching toward the suburbs, values in Detroit are moving outward with population, to the Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills area.

Invest here and reap the profits that may be yours with little effort. Every factor is in your favor.

Here is a restricted, exclusive community where values are in their infancy. Here are social, educational and economic ad-vantages to force values rapidly higher and higher.

You can reap the benefits through a better way of living or by the increased values these advantages will bring. Let us show you how money works in a Walsh, James & Wasey development.
