DANCE IS NEAR AT CRANBROOK

100 Couples Expected At Social Function In Bloomfield

Plans are practically complete today for the dance to be given by the third form of the Cranbrook School Friday evening. Invitations are being issued by Dr. and Mrs. William O. Stevens to more than 100 boys and girls of Birmingham, Detroit, Grosse Ile, Grosse Pointe, and neighboring cities. About 50 students of the second and third forms will be present.

Cranbrook School meets the Detroit Country Day School football team at Cranbrook Friday afternoon, and the Detroit players have received invitations to remain over for dinner and the dance.

Mrs. Stevens, assisted by a committee of third form students, has planned details of the party. Programs will be given to the dancers and Mrs. Stevens will serve cream and cake which will be served during the latter part of the program.

The dances will include modern and old-fashioned types, giving everyone a chance on the floor. Robber's dances, "lights low" numbers, and numerous others will add variety. Several beautiful color effects will also be produced with the aid of a spotlight.

Mrs. Stevens has planned bridge tables for the chaperones who do not care to dance. Among the

EXCHANGITES PLAN ANNUAL DINNER-DANCE

Plans for a dinner and dance to be held at Northwood Inn, Royal Oak, the evening of Dec. 8, are being made by the entertainment committee of the Birmingham Exchange club, according to an announcement given out today by Dr. Otto Beck, president. This affair is one of several that the Exchange club puts on each year, to which they invite their wives.

MANY RETURN FOR WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Marjorie Boyer, of Detroit, this week-end attracted several former residents "back to the Hills" for a few days. Miss Madeline Cozart, of "Walpole," is expected home from Washington for the event. Mr. and Mrs. James M. McMahon, the latter of whom is remembered as Miss Eleanor Mack, are moving up from Toledo to be present at the wedding.

ADAMS MEETING IS POSTPONED

The "book" meeting of the Adams School Parent-Teacher association, at which William Avery Barras, educational director of reading at the Detroit Public library, will speak, will be held tonight in the auditorium of the school. The meeting is a postponed one, having been scheduled originally for last Tuesday night. In connection with Mr. Barras' talk, an exhibition of children's books will be on view at the school.

BRIDGE TEA

Mrs. Robert E. Clayton, of Oakland avenue, will entertain at her home. There will be three tables. Supper will be served later in the evening.

DETACHABLE COLLARS INVENTED BY WOMAN

Tradition has it that a woman invented the detachable collar. A married woman, who observed that she stayed clean longer when she used collars that a clean collar was all that was required to make the shirt comfortable.

It looks simple in retrospect, but no one before thought of unbuttoning the collar from the shirt, saving laundry labor and also enabling the men of the family to look clean whether they wore freshly shirred or not. All this happened a century ago, and now collar factories are turning out the product which our men are sweating through daily.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS NOW MADE IN FELT

Chrysanthemums and football are almost inseparable and usually to each end is a round, man and go together. This year factored crystal.

"Let Men Who Make War Do Fighting"

"Wars should be fought by people who make them, not by young boys who have nothing to say about the matter." Justice Clarence Allen of the supreme court of Ohio, told her hearers at the Open Forum meeting Tuesday afternoon at Detroit City college.

"The World war was made by old men, politicians and militarists. They didn't have to fight it, though. The war system is built upon the theory that a government doesn't have to be right. It only has to be strong. The American rights proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, all are being sacrificed to the war system."

"What has become of the life of the American boy who went to France to fight in a war in which we had no legitimate part. There will be more American lives lost in the near future. It is inevitable that we will be drawn in. Our country will insist upon selling goods to Europe, the combatant nations will insist upon sinking our ships, and the whole miserable story of the World war will be repeated again."

"Now, when we have peace, it is time to work for the maintenance of peace. When the doves who have been unleashed they will run their course. Men will sacrifice their lives to a war system countenanced by the so-called Christian nations."

It's as hard for some folks to stay divorced as it is to stay married.
