WORKERS SEEK CONTRIBUTION

Red Cross Soliciting Clothing For Flood Sufferers

Clothing for the flood sufferers in the Mississippi valley is being collected today by Mrs. Roland H. Mann, 423 Greenwood avenue, in connection with the nation-wide Red Cross campaign for relief to the sufferers in that section. Mrs. Mann is Bloomfield Township Red Cross chairman, succeeding Mrs. T. R. Donovan, who recently resigned.

All kinds of clothing are necessary, according to advices from workers in the vicinity. Coats, dresses, stockings and underclothing for women and girls, shirts, sweaters, socks and underwear for boys and men, and baby's clothing, all are wanted. Any furs, shoes or hats available will also be welcomed, Mrs. Mann said.

Anyone having such clothing to give, is requested to communicate with Mrs. Mann as soon as possible, as the clothing becomes more necessary every day, with the cold weather advancing. Mrs. Mann will have the goods collected.

THE LADY OF OUR FORESTS SENDS IN HER ANNUAL PLEA FOR MERCY

By MRS. JOHN DOE
In Michigan's Wild Woods, Nov. 15—Well, today is the first of 15 slaughtering days in the great, wide and open spaces of the state in which I and the rest of my tribe live, and I want to go on record as stating that things from now until the first of December will be in a helluva state for all of us. The reason for this is that about 15,000 so-called human beings from Michigan and other parts of the United States have left the cities and towns where they have builded and are going out hunting me and my tribe.

The only difference between the treatment that the white man gives us and has given the American Indian is that he has quit shooting the Indian on a large scale. One reason for this is that there are not so many Indians left, while with our tribe we grow without the aid of man in our native haunts. I have been told by my great-grandfather that when the white man has killed all but a few of my kind he'll put the few remaining members in a zoo and that is what will be about as safe as an elephant in captivity. That depends, of course, upon whether or not the white man is able to live on the peanuts which children give us.

Well, as I start out to say in the beginning of this annual lament, today is the BIG DAY with the Michigan sportsman. Thousands of them are coming up where we have reared our families, and are going to try to turn our husbands into ornaments for the mantel piece; it doesn't make any difference to the hunters which of our husbands or sons they shoot—or even if they shoot some of us mothers or little sisters, for that's all in the game of the great, wide open spaces. I have lived up here in Luce County, in the Upper Peninsula, for the last nine years, and have had some pretty close escapes from bullets of the white man; in fact, I carry several scars from steel that has almost penetrated my heart. You see, although the white man is only supposed to shoot our husbands and grown brothers, he often makes a mistake, and fires at the women of our tribe. But, then, I suppose that we should not complain about this, for I hear that the white man very often does the same thing with the women and children of his enemies when he is making war on some other country.

I know a lot of things about some of these hunting expeditions, too, and I know that lots of the white men who come into our woods carry a lot of their ammunition in bottles. The Indians used to call this kind of ammunition "fire-water." None of our people has ever been put on fire by this water, but I understand that it is used a great deal in the hunters' camps to help the slave out in keeping them warm. I'm glad that my tribe manages to keep warm by working for our food, and by keeping on the move.

Oh, I could tell your readers a lot more about the next 15 days and what will happen to our tribe up here. But I guess I'll have to close on account of not having any more money to pay for this message. I do hope, though, that this year I will be spared so that I can help rear my baby; baby and I hope, too, that his father and my husband, Mr. John Buck, will be making for another few years. So goodbye; wish us good luck, and remember that, after all, beef-steak really is better tasting than venison—and a great deal cheaper.

SPECIAL VOTE IS O.K.'D AT OAK PARK

Manager Says Charter Provision For Two Elections Yearly

(Special to The Eccentric)
Oak Park, Nov. 15.—The special election called for Dec. 12 by the village of Oak Park will be held, despite the circulation of a report that the election could not be held because of a charter provision, Glendon J. Mowitt, village manager, stated today.

The election was called to pass upon a $300,000 bond issue to supply funds with which to lay water mains in the village. The first election held recently failed to receive the necessary majority vote, although more than half of the voters approved the measure.

A report was circulated that Oak Park could hold but two special elections in any period of 12 months, and this is true, Mr. Mowitt said. "So far we have held only one special election and have one to spare," he said. "Therefore, we will have our election."

Oak Park is planning to secure Detroit city water, but has made

PISTOL BLANK SUPPLY AGAIN IS EXHAUSTED

The police station having run out of blanks yesterday for the second time, an additional 10 days for gun registration, beginning today, is announced by James Anderson, chief. The registration is in compliance with a state law recently enforced requiring all pistols to be registered with police departments.

More than 400 guns had been registered before the supply gave out yesterday, Chief Anderson said, and at least 50 more were waiting to be registered. Blanks are expected to be here tomorrow to continue the work.

SEEK AGREEMENT IN STREET WIDENING

(Special to The Eccentric)
Royal Oak, Nov. 15.—Three members of the city commission today are arranging a meeting with Walter Gehring, hoping to effect a satisfactory agreement relative to the acquisition of some of Mr. Gehring's property needed for the widening of Third street from Center street to Washington avenue. A condemnation suit was started in the great court at Pontiac, but was held up by a writ of mandamus obtained by the Grand Trunk railroad and which is now awaiting its call before the Michigan Supreme court.

KUNSKY BIRMINGHAM

NOTICE Theatre Opening Date

Birmingham, Michigan,
November 15, 1927

To the Public of
Birmingham and Vicinity:

Due to delays in the receipt of furnishings for our new Kunsky Birmingham Theatre, which we had hoped to open during Prosperity Week, we find it necessary to postpone the pre-opening performance until next Monday evening, November 21, 1927.

We wish to emphasize the fact that we have used every means at our disposal to open the Theatre this evening, Wednesday, November 16th, 1927, and we are as sorry as you are that it cannot be accomplished.

We feel that we owe it to you to open this Theatre completely equipped and furnished, and rather than present it to you incomplete, the pre-opening date has been postponed until next Monday evening, November 21, 1927.

(Signed) Kunsky Theatres Corp.
GEORGE W. TRENDLE,
General Manager.

THE special-PRE-OPENING PERFORMANCE will be under the auspices of the Community House and the proceeds will go to this worthy community organization. The ticket sale is entirely in the hands of the Community House Committee.

The general public opening of the theatre follows the next day.
