D'MOLAYS PLAN ANNUAL DANCE

Chapter To Hold Gala Affair At Fox And Hounds Inn

Plans are under way today for the fourth annual ball of the James Hassberger chapter of the Order of DeMolay, to be held Thursday evening, Dec. 29, at the Fox and Hounds Inn, in the new Manley Davis building at Long Lake road and Woodward avenue. The new Inn provides an ideal setting, with its red leather furniture and stunning interior decorating for the dances, at which 600 couples are expected.

Clifford Harper, master councilor of the organization, is general chairman for the affair. Sub-chairmen and committees will be appointed within a few days, he announces.

An orchestra from Ann Arbor has been obtained for the dance, and present indications are that, in line with the usual custom of the chapter, this year's dance will be more elaborate, and more enjoyable, than any of the chapter's previous affairs.

Men May Become Old And Frank, But Ladies Will Remain "Boyish Bobs"

Men may let their hair grow long, their beards take on the appearance of a wheat field, or do any thing they wish with the bald spots that may protect them from the heat of the noonday sun—but women, well, in the opinion of the American Master Barbers' Association, the fair sex will keep their "crowning glory" well cut, and "never, no, never, will the ladies use hair pins again!

This is the consensus of 500 master barbers gathered in their fourth annual convention this week at the Book Cadillac hotel, Detroit, as stated by Alden Warmelin, of Minneapolis, second vice president.

"The hairpin is doomed forever. So is the hair net, the side comb and the switch, because the women of the world never again will allow themselves to be hampered in work and in play by long hair."

"Sport Rules, Not Style."

"The passion for outdoor sports, not fashion, is responsible for the permanent place that shorthair has won in the hearts of women," Mr. Warmelin says. "Can you imagine a girl dashing across a tennis court, dropping hair pins as she runs. And being hair is equally a nuisance on the hockey field, the baseball diamond or the basket ball court. The horseback rider or the girl aviator who has to stop to push long, windblown hair out of her eyes is a total loss. Women nowadays want to be active as their brothers and they can't be while they remain a slave to hairpins.

"Of course women, being women, will change the styles of their hair dressing from time to time and right now we have the close head dress with the long front hair drawn into a knot at the back of the head. But even in this apparently long haired style the back hair has to have its customary semi-monthly cut.

Study Facial Structure

"And the bob really should be more popular than ever because a haircut is no longer merely a hair cut in any first class shop. Barbers now are being trained as experts in contour and bringing out the proper expression of the back of the head. A changed hair line may make all the difference in a woman's looks, you know.

"But the modern barber is learning more things, too. He is learning the details of facial structure, the proper youth preserving care of muscles, nerves and glands. In facial massage he is becoming a scientist."

After the Theater

Mrs. Norman Lyle, of York shire road, will be hostess at a supper party Monday evening, following the opening of the new Kunsky-Birmingham Theater. The party will be in honor of Mrs. Lyle's birthday.

Miss Elizabeth Huard, formerly of Redford, and Miss Edna Ferguson, of Birmingham, will conduct the shop which will be open from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m.
