CRANBROOK AWAITS DANCE

Hills School Prepare For Social Function Tonight

Cranbrook School is in tiptoe today, awaiting the school dance, to be held tonight in the auditorium of the school, following the football game this afternoon with the Detroit Country Day School. The dance is to be for the second and third form students with more than 10 out-of-town girls, including the members of the Detroit football team, also in attendance.

Gay programs and favors have been planned for the dancers and refreshments will be served late in the evening, the party lasting from 9 until 12. Pictures of the dancers will also be taken by a special photographer. Arrangements for the party have been completed by Mrs. William O. Stevens, wife of the head master. A clever arrangement of spotlights will cast colored lights on the dancers as they wind in and out of Virginia Reels and fox trots and waltzes, the program to include old-fashioned ones.

Bridge tables have been arranged for the chaperones who do not wish to dance. The list of chaperones includes Mr. and Mrs. George G. Booth, Dr. and Mrs. S.

CHILD BOOKS IS P.T.A. TOPIC

National Book, Prosperity Week's Program Meeting Held

Two talks on children's books, at the Parent-Teacher association meetings of the Hill and Barnum schools, made up the book week part of the school program yesterday, this week being celebrated all over the country as book week. Mrs. Nancy B. Thorne, librarian, spoke at the Barnum School and Mrs. Alfred J. LaFelle, of LaFelle's book also spoke at the Hill school meeting.

Both speakers stressed the importance of books for children in the last few years. "Even the old books have been made more attractive in their new editions," Mrs. Thorne said, illustrating her point with a number of new and recent editions of Louis M. Aldous' "Little Women," which, she believes, will always remain among the most popular of children's books.

BRIDGE-LUNCHEON FOR MISS WILSON

Lovely Affair Held Yesterday For Local Debate at Wardell.

Miss Dorothy Edna Wilson, one of this year's charming debutantes, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wilson, of Willett street, was the guest of honor at a bridge-luncheon of lovely appointments, given by Miss Dorothy Downing, Wednesday at the Wardell Hotel in Detroit.

An unusual lovely centerpiece of yellow hellebore, pink chrysanthemums and pink roses, flanked by yellow tapers, adorned the luncheon table. From the centerpiece were streamers of pink tulle, leading to coronas at the individual places.

Miss Wilson's beauty was enhanced by her gown and appointments of cinnamon brown, which she is wearing so lovely in blue. The guests who enjoyed the lovely affair were Mrs. Russell H. Lathrop, Mrs. Herbert Saxon, Mrs. Charles Noyes, Mrs. Gertrude Grinnell, Mrs. Margaret Matheson, Miss Lloyd Huston, Miss Elizabeth Huettner, Miss Lois Callender, Miss Marjorie Metcalf and Miss Florence Munn.

WOMEN START BOWLING CLUB

She Feels no Blast

A woman's bowling team was organized yesterday among the members of the "CMI" five pin club, when they met for their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Hutton, on Brown street. The team is expected to begin playing within a few days.

PRESBYTERIAN TEA GIVEN YESTERDAY

Pink and white chrysanthemums in tall vases decorated the Presbyterian room of the Presbyterian church Wednesday, when the Women's Society of the church entertained with a tea and refreshments for the congregation of the church. During the afternoon, Mrs. George Davelley, of Maple avenue, entertained the ladies by singing, in her charming manner, a group of folk songs. Mrs. Fred Ross of Willett street, and Mrs. Ross Crawford, of Maple avenue, presided at the tea table, and fifty guests attended the affair.

THURSDAY MUSICAL

"Chorus practise is being held by the Thursday Musicals, on Wednesday morning, in the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Helen Wagner Neff is director, and work is being done on selections to be sung by the chorus on club programs later in the year.

GROUPS AID FLOOD VICTIMS

Birmingham's division of the W. C. T. U. today, sent their second barrel of clothing to the flood victims in Arkansas, the first barrel having been sent in September. The one sent today contained coats, suits, blankets and baby clothing.

The local organization was well represented at the Oakland County convention held in Pontiac last week. Those attending were Mrs. Ada McKinney, Mrs. R. J. McKinney, Mrs. Cath Jackson, Mrs. Henry Hubbs, Mrs. Henry Stevens, Mrs. Esther and Miss Lucy Gandy.

GIFTS RECEIVED

Tomorrow is the last day that gifts of fruits, jellies and preserves for the Vetgram's Hospital at Battle Creek may be received by members of the Women's Auxiliary of Charles Edwards Post, No. 11, American Legion, who are collecting for the collection. Gifts are being left at Billy McBridge's candy store on west Maple avenue.

FASHIONS HERE AND THERE

New York.—In older days the young girl who did not have the kind of dress she wanted was reduced to tears. Nowadays she is promoted to tiers. The tiered skirt is distinctly a feature of the styles of the day, especially if the tiers are worked into scallops or points. This Vogue fits perfectly with the trend toward the blossoming of dresses in back.

New York.—Whether to buy one coat or two still remains a question. One of the greatest London couturiers is sponsoring a dual model which is supposed to take the place of the two garments, but its popularity is not yet assured. One side of the coat is tweed for fine days. The other side features a waterproof for bad days.

London.—Waistlines or without makes all the difference so far as collars and cuffs are concerned. For dresses there is a distinct trend toward the collarless neck openings and the straight, tight, cuffless sleeves. On the other hand, outercoats were never more elaborately collared and cuffed. The coat collars of fur extend at least to the waistline and sometimes to the hem, while cuffs rise as high as the elbow. The dress neckline are frequently of the V-shape.

Paris.—There are few women who would not like to have an orchestral accompaniment when they make their entrance at club, hotel or party. Perhaps that is why so many of them select blues. The shades include green blues and blue greens, purple blues and navy blues. The greens are about evenly divided between blue greens and yellow greens.

Preserved food has been in use since 1804. Te boys at Santiago believed that they were issued some of the first batches. The American supply of copper said to be in danger of exhaustion. To had the same can not be said about the brass.
