

HOPE WANES FOR RECOVERY

Boston Man Struck By Auto While Crossing Woodward Ave.

Little hope was held late yesterday for the recovery of Harold Swift, 36 years old, Boston, who was in the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac after being struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Louis Krister of Flint on Woodward avenue and the Lane Pine street.

Swift, employed at the new Cranbrook school, was attempting to cross Woodward avenue when the automobile struck him. A statement was taken at the prosecutor's office from Mrs. Krister who was released pending the outcome of Mr. Swift's injuries.

Mrs. Swift was summoned from Boston and is at her husband's bedside.

MAYHEM PRACTICED IN FIGHT NEAR HERE

When a man bites a dog, that's news, according to the time worn dictum of the late Charles A. Dana. But when a man bites another man, what may that be?

This is merely one of the questions in the mind of Thomas Wilson, 23 years old, Ferndale, Michigan driver, who lost an ear Tuesday night in a "hand-to-hand" and mouth-to-ear fight with a driver of a bus of a rival company.

Wilson was treated by Dr. O. C. Beck at the Birmingham police station. He told Sgt. Clark Green he intended to take action against his assailant who, he says, attacked him after he questioned the other's erratic driving.

Almost half of Wilson's ear was torn away and Dr. Beck had to take 15 stitches.

HIT-RUN DRIVER HELD BY POLICE

William J. Turner, 18 year old, 45 Chamberlin avenue, Pontiac, is recovering today in St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, from injuries received Sunday morning in an accident on south Woodward avenue. Turner was marked at the side of the road, and was out of the car, examining his motor when a car driven by John Wilson, Canfield and Third streets, Detroit, struck him and did not stop, according to Albert Quinion, of Pontiac, who caught Wilson three miles down Woodward avenue before he caught him and brought him back to the police station. Wilson was held by police.

Chamberlin suffered a fractured pelvis and severe cuts on the leg. He was treated by Dr. Herbert Moore before he was removed to the hospital. His mother, Mrs. W. Chamberlin was sitting in the car at the time of the accident.

WHERE MEN ARE MEN AND MAIL A RARITY

Whether Elliot Coryell, the son of Kolla J. Coryell, of West Maple receives his mail or not is the hunting trip which he is enjoying in northern Canada at present. He is addressed to Mile 9 1/2, Algoma Central and Hudson Bay railroad.

When the train on this railroad reaches Mile 9 1/2, Elliot's letter is fastened to a piece of wood and thrown out the window. If somebody passing picks it up, he will mail it. If it said somebody has lumbago or is suffering from chronic laziness, he probably won't bother, and so it will be kicked around until it is lost and Elliot will not know whether Birmingham is a village or a city.

AN INTERIOR VIEW OF NEW THEATER

A departure in theater decor is being conveyed by the interior of the new theater, which is being conveyed by the interior of the new theater, which is being conveyed by the interior of the new theater.

The artist, color the various motifs. The auditorium rises to a large dome of rough-hewn plaster. Gold leaf on this dome is so placed as to catch the hundreds of colored lights and make possible many effects from that of a summer-night over Bloomfield Hills. The bright colors of a perfect gilding day. Ceiling spaces surrounding the dome are treated with large panels of special designs of nature down making—birds, foliage, flowers, all executed by hand by Goldberg artists.

The side walls have small balconies above which are panels, silk-draped and each having a different landscape. Between these panels are wall spaces with silk damask designs. A wainscot around the lower part of the auditorium is of marble. All plan surfaces are of soft-feld ivory, producing a harmonious background for the colorful decorations. Grills and ornamental iron work will be in polychrome. The proscenium arch and ornamental balcony fronts will be rich in gold and brilliant color.

The whole decorative scheme is of modern and colorful theme, intended to convey cheerfulness and cozy comfort, with dignity and simple the ultra-brilliance and vivid colorings of the so-called modern style.

Y. M. C. A. Workers Near Drive Goal

Reports of the annual campaign for funds in Birmingham and vicinity for the Y. M. C. A. show that approximately $5,000 of the $6,000 quota had been received up to last night, according to information given out by Charles B. DeMille, chairman of the campaign. A meeting of all workers will be held at the Baldwin High School cafeteria next Monday at 6:30 p. m. when final reports will be made.

According to Robert D. Lynd, secretary, prizes to the workers will be awarded next Monday night. The two divisions, one under Clarence Vliet and the other under George H. Averill are about even in their returns, Mr. Lynd said. It is expected, however, that the campaign will continue informally after next Monday night, as there may be some persons as yet unsewn by the canvassers.

NEW DETROIT

In response to many requests from his patrons, Manager Warner of the New Detroit Opera House, Detroit, has booked Cecil DeMille's production "The King of Kings" for two weeks only, beginning Sunday night, Nov. 6th. This is the picture that has been presented to crowded audiences for six months at the Gaiety Theatre, New York. It had an exceedingly successful run in Boston and is now running to big business in Philadelphia and Los Angeles, as well as in New York.

In filming this wonderful story of Christ, Mr. DeMille showed tremendous daring, the work being even more venturesome than his "The Sign of the Cross" and the pitifully many. The unanimous praise of the reviewers in all the metropolitan cities indicates that his tremendous art proved entirely successful. Using all his own personal resources and expanding the new and old technique of the motion picture art, he was aided in the work by representatives of many faiths and research scholars of authority. Miss Jeanie McPherson, the scenarist, it said to have wrought more finely constructed story than that of "Ten Commandments."

Among the eighteen stars of the production are such favorites as H. B. Warner, Jacqueline Logan, Randolph and Joseph Schildkraut, Victor Varnoy, William Boyd, Montagu Love, George Sigmund, Theodore Kosloff, Julia Faye, Robert Edison, Sam de Grassis. In fact, the cast of principals is a roster of eminent names in pictures.

The sum of $2,500,000 is said to have been expended on the making of the picture. As the actors embody the well-known characters of the New Testament narrative so the hundred great sets realize the scenes in the life of Jesus.

Because of its magnitude, "The King of Kings" is now a rare release attraction. It will be presented here by the Boston Company, which has already had a complete stage staff. Performances will be given twice daily after the opening, and there will be no other opportunity of seeing "The King of Kings" in this vicinity until 1928-29, crowded houses are assured. The sale of seats will open Thursday morning.

The good spirits attendant upon Halloween did not last long at the home of Mrs. Newton Whitley of Lochmore Village, who were arrested Monday night for disorderly conduct.

They were returning to their home after a Halloween party and had evidently forgotten all about the pumpkins and jack-o'-lanterns and false faces, and were engaging in a private battle all their own, according to Patrolman George Townsend, who made the arrest, on Southfield road, after someone had called the police to the spot.

FIREMAN GIVEN $200 FOR HURTS

A check of for $200 accompanied a letter of appreciation for his services to David Anderson, assistant fire chief, from the village. The commission at the meeting Monday night approved the appropriation for Mr. Anderson who was injured last February while responding to a fire alarm and who was under the care of a physician for several weeks following the accident.

Mr. Anderson's health has been failing since the accident, Chief William G. Olsen told the commissioners, and he plans to leave Monday for Florida where he will spend the winter.

He has been a member of the department for more than six years, the chief said, and has always been a conscientious and enthusiastic worker.

Action on the insurance policies the village plans to take out for members of the volunteer and paid departments will be taken next week, it was indicated Monday.
