PLAYERS TO OPEN SEASON

Four Numbers Announced For First Program Saturday Night

Arrangements are complete today for the first program this season of the Birmingham Village Players, to be given Saturday night in the Players' Theater at Chestnut and Elm streets. Two plays and two nifties make up the bill for the evening.

"Hopes," a one-act play by Wilbur Daniel Steele, will include in its dramatic personae William Lerchen as Paul Whalen, keeper of the light; Mrs. George Dewey as Jen Whalen, his wife; D. C. Murray as Jim Payne, the district inspector, and Elizabeth Penny as Pauline Walen, the daughter. Mr. Lerchen is also directing the play. The other one-act play is "Love is a Cupboard," in one act, written by Dorothy Heyward. Mrs.

Raymond Kelly will have the role of Vinetta Clark, Sedley Brown, of Fentons and Mrs. Ethel Charlton will do the part of his wife, Mary Harding. Mrs. Laurence Shafter, of Ravine road, is directing this one.

Mrs. George Raynale and Leigh Lynch are directing the two nifties, which complete the program. In the first one, directed by Mrs. Raynale, L. A. Morgan plays the husband, Mrs. D. C. Murray the wife, and Cecil Charlton the lover. In the second one, Mrs. Leigh Lynch plays the wife and Loren Stauch the husband.

Couzens To Hold Reception

Senator and Mrs. James Couzens will be at home to their Bloomfield Hills neighbors at their new home on Waterloo road from 4 until 6 o'clock Saturday. They have limited the reception to their Hills friends, no Detroit or other out-of-town guests being expected. Approximately 300 guests are expected from Bloomfield Hills. Tea will be served.

DINNER DANCE FOLLOWS HUNT

Fox And Hounds Inn Opened By Hendrie Party After Open Hunt

The dinner dance given by the Georgetown Hendrie party at the Bloomfield Open Hunt races Friday proved to be the biggest and most elaborate social affair of the season. Four hundred guests, whom one could safely state "the party," which opened the Fox and Hounds Inn in the new Manly Davis building at Long Lake road and Woodward avenue, were in attendance at the party, which opened the Fox and Hounds Inn in the new Manly Davis building at Long Lake road and Woodward avenue, were in attendance at the party.

The guest list included the Mrs. Ford, the Edsel Ford, Judge William C. Coker, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Booth and many others from Detroit, Grosse Pointe and Bloomfield Hills. The dinner at several large tables. The Inn, with its beamed ceilings and red leather furniture, was a scene of fitting climax to the afternoon racing events. Fall flowers as well as a number of hunting prints and scenes gave color to the room.
