Birmingham, Michigan October 4, 1927.

Mr. Rowley, Consumers Power Co., Birmingham, Michigan.

Dear Sir:

We are very glad to recommend the Consumers Automatic Gas Water Heater to anyone who may be interested in installing such a convenience in his home. Each one has, from the first day of its installation in our homes, performed regularly and satisfactorily, and at no time has it failed to furnish an inexhaustible supply of "piping hot" water.

Contrary to general opinion, the operating cost has been found to be unusually low. Considering the advantage of always having hot water at the turn of your hand, we find that the Consumers Automatic Gas Water Heater is most economical in operation.

We will be pleased to explain the advantages we have found in your heater to anyone who may be interested in installing such equipment.

Yours sincerely,
L. J. Slusser,
