and now your shopping problem is

A long time ago we realized the woman's point of view regarding the purchasing of food for the family table.

And we know this: That there is nothing more provoking at times than the problem of what to have for meal time.

Realizing this we always try to assist

Social Alignment

INCONGRUITY in one's domestic A repertoire is ghastly to behold and makes us all impressionistically susceptible toward opinions of other folks. And in like manner, perfect alignment is absolutely delightful. Many of the elements toward social alignment argsto be found in this store. You are invited to browse around—safe from the ordinary salesmanship interference.

The Town that Time Forgot

T is not so much that the rolling hills lift you up so high that you may look ar over town and country. high that you may look lar over town and country. It is not even the seemingly nunnier sunshine, the free sweet air, or the charm of gnarled old fruit trees with their promises of blossoming glory, that is drawing so many nowadays to Frankin Village. The urge that none may turn from is more the haunting spell of bygone days that hangs forever over this sleepy valley. Here dozes a little white village untouched by the drab hand of city makers, a setting for homes that recalls the days when homes were homes indeed . Franklin Village . . "The Town that Time Forgot."
