

BUREAU WARNS AGAINST TRICK

Credit Association Here Declares Purchases Should Be Verified

Birmingham's Credit Bureau has issued a warning today concerning a certain "nice looking man about 32 years old, five feet nine inches tall, rather stout, and dark complexioned who has fleeced several Pontiac housewives out of various amounts of money. The man is said to declare he represents a firm in New Orleans which the Credit Bureau is unable to locate. Hosiery is offered for sale by the canvassers at a great reduction, according to members of the Credit Bureau here, but after a deposit is taken, the hosiery is not delivered. The Credit Bureau has requested that persons interviewed by salespeople of whom they become suspicious notify them immediately. Queen's Act Aids Boy Grant Of Good Queen Bess 366 Years Ago To Sea-Roving Ancestor of 11-Year-Old Yankee Lad Assures His Education

Johnny Hawkins

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The Eccentric

Albany, N. Y.—Eleven-year-old John Richard Hawkins, Jr., of Albany, direct descendant of Sir John Hawkins, Britain's bold admiral of the sixteenth century, is planning to enter Oxford university on a scholarship granted to his ancestor by good Queen Bess 366 years ago. It's clearly written into the Oxford records, where the late Mrs. John V. L. Pryn, on one of her London tours, came upon it and reported it to John Richard Hawkins. Hawkins was born in Brandybury, Oxfordshire. Forget Coat-of-Arms The family soon returned to America, and so completely was the tie between the old and the new world broken that the coat of arms, also granted by Queen Elizabeth, is not even hanging in the parlor. Nor does young Johnny Hawkins, who will transfer to the Albany academy in September from public school, intend to wear his coat of arms at Oxford. While Johnny likes to play pirate, and is athletic and fond of all outdoor games, he is a studious boy and will choose medicine for his career. He wishes to go to the Harvard school of medicine, and after that take an Oxford course.

A NEW DISEASE

A member of a parent-teacher association has charged her small son never to go into the homes of his little friends if a placard is displayed, as he might be exposed to a contagious disease. Sending him to a neighborhood home on an errand, she was surprised when he returned almost immediately, saying "Mother, I didn't go in that house. The folks there have 'Hem-stitching'."
