HOW to Achieve Beauty

By Mme. Helena Rubinstein

More Remedies for Foot Trouble

The soles of the feet seem to center the pain—and you will find that rubbing, then nightly with a cut lemon will refresh them and ease the fatigue.

I have another strengthening bath for sensitive, delicate feet, and although it is a little troublesome to prepare, it is well worth the labor. Boil for twenty minutes in five quarts of water, the following herbs:

- 1 oz. dried mint 1/2 oz. dried sage 1/2 oz. dried angelica 3/4 oz. Juniper berries 1 lb. Rosemary leaves 1 lb.

The herbs can be tied in a bag, but the better way is to boil them in the water and then clarify it by straining.

Bathe the feet in this bath 20 minutes before going to bed. Repeat for several successive nights and the pain of your feet will speedily depart.

Remember that the more your feet are bathed and rubbed, the better will be their condition, and the less likely to trouble you.

Frequent changes of shoes are good for both the soles and the feet, for it will help to keep both in better condition.

Stockings, too, are important factors in foot comfort. A long stocking may result in callouses, blisters and other irritations. A short one, by covering the toes, may help to cause bunions. Stockings should be rubbed out every night, and if you are only in the washing, be sure there isn't a speck of it adhering to the silk by the time they are ready for the line. I am not only advocating this frequent washing as a sanitary measure, but as a comfort measure as well. You will be very much surprised to know that this simple matter can be of tremendous help to tired, aching feet.

The pressure of a tight shoe or the rubbing of an ill fitting one causes another common foot ailment—namely granulations or false nails. These little hard spots grow under and around the corners of the nails, the big toe nail particularly. They are only less painful than ingrowing nails. Sometimes they can be scraped away after a hot foot bath of 4 oz. bicarbonate of soda in 2 quarts of water, and their return can be prevented by inserting a bit of absorbent cotton under the nail. More difficult cases can be relieved by treating with a solution of potassium hydroxide. Have your druggist mix this for you and apply with a fine camel's hair brush. After a few days, the granulations can be easily removed.

Ingrown toe nails do not always result from short or narrow shoes. Putting the nail too close can do it, or habitual neglect—or the incorrect shaping after pedicuring which points the end toward the flesh instead of out and up. Remember that infection from an ingrown toe nail or any other foot trouble is easily spread, and must be rigidly guarded against.

Treatment is prevention. The corners of the nail should be cut, or if it has "grown in" the ingrown vice should be gently raised from the trough it has caused in the flesh and a piece of cotton or tinsel placed under it and changed daily, till the nail has grown enough to allow it to be cut properly. If there is slight infection use non-irritating antiseptics. It is better not to use iodine in such cases. Mercurochrome is the popular disinfectant now—as it neither burns nor

Draperies, Jacket Theme Featured By Paris

By LUCY CLAIRE

Fashion Expert for Central Press and The Eccentric

The higher waistline is recognized and draperies accentuated, the August Paris fashions. Sportswear ensembles are generally sponsored in the softer sports lines, in keeping with the greater and greater feminine trend. The jacket costume and the jacket theme for all types of frocks, from morning to evening, are featured in a number of the collections. These costumes are appearing in two for morning wear, and in velvet and satin for afternoon, while the theme is carried through to evening gown even when evening is used. An example of the formal afternoon gown carrying the jacket theme is shown at the left of the sketch. It is a Chantal model worn by one of the titled ladies at the marriage of Mademoiselle Radziwill to the

Due de Maille.

The gown is of the new "poke" cloche shapes. It shows the higher waistline, and is of huge crepe trimmed with brown velvet ribbon. It explains the circular pleated skirt with the yoked neckline formed by the wide grille. Pumps of tanpud, which almost match the grayish tone of the large frock, are worn with this costume. With the gown of chiffon in two shades of violet, was worn the muller four shoe in the new egg plant kid, with buckles set with large smoky colored crystals.

Irregularity of trim marks many of the new hats for fall. In fact there are so many irregularities it looks as though an attempt had been made to fit them to every "twist of fate." That sketched in the center is one of

Chocolate Mint Sauce

Two squares chocolate or one-half cup cocoa, one cup cold water, two cups sugar, one teaspoon vanilla, one teaspoon essence of mint, two tablespoons butter. Put chocolate in pieces and stir with water over direct fire until smooth and thick. Add sugar and salt and stir until dissolved. Boil three minutes, add butter, vanilla and mint essence and serve at once. If cocoa is used, and if the butter is omitted, this sauce may be put into an airtight jar and kept until ready to use. Reheat and add butter and serve.

Purée of Lettuce

One quart white fish or cod and part steak, two tablespoons flour, two tablespoons butter, four leaves of two or three heads of lettuce, one small onion, two teaspoons lemon juice, salt and pepper. Cook lettuce leaves until tender in a covered kettle without adding

Here is a meatless menu which depends for its protein on the milk, egg in the pudding, and cheese added to the bread crumbs and served with the dessert.

Today's Recipes

Blueberry Pudding

For the blueberry pudding, sift together two cups of sifted flour, four teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of salt. Cream two tablespoons each of sugar and butter and add one beaten egg. Then add three-fourths cup of fresh blueberries. Bake in a hot oven for 25 minutes. Serve hot with stewed berries and hard sauce.

French Dressing

Slice of onion, one-half teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, six tablespoons salad oil, two tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice, and one-half teaspoon of each of the following ingredients, and beat vigorously, or put in a bottle for jar and shake. More paprika irritates as iodine does, and yet it thoroughly antiseptic in action. If the toe nail is causing serious trouble, see a physician, by all means. It is so easy to cure in a few minutes to rectify the growth where infection developing through neglect may cripple you for several weeks.

Wife Preservers

This salad bowl is made of yellow Italian pottery hand-drawn in blue design. Wooden fork and spoon company it.

Reminders

A small sheet of paper pad with attached pencil, hung in the kitchen, will help you to remember things to order as well as recording other memoranda.

First Course

For a first course at dinner or luncheon serve a piece of muskmelon, half a grapefruit, a fruit cocktail for a plate of mixed relishes. Serve soup if you wish, although in warm weather one of the cold, jellied soups will be more acceptable than the hot.

Here is a quick and easy way to clean tubes and interior of your percolator. Fill the percolator with water as usual, but instead of putting coffee in it use four tablespoons of salt. Connect the percolator and let heat just as if you were making coffee.
