

LAST RITES ARE HELD FOR AUTO VICTIM

driver of the car in which the Roes were riding, is still in the City Hospital with a skull fracture. His condition is reported improving, however.

Denton was uninjured. Coroner O. C. Farmer, who investigated, said there would be no inquest. "The facts I have ascertained have convinced me there was no criminal negligence and that the accident was unavoidable," he said.

Denton told Prosecutor Clyde D. Underwood both cars were traveling at a high rate of speed and that it was impossible to see each other as the vision was obscured at the crossing by trees.

Both Milling and Roe were thrown from the automobile. They were unconscious when picked up by Denton and passersby. None knew that Mrs. Roe was in the car until they heard her moans. She had been riding in the rear seat and the car overturned on her, pinning her underneath.

The services were held at All Saints Episcopal Church, Pontiac. She is survived by two children besides her husband. They are Madeline, 19 years old, a graduate of the Pontiac High School, and George, 17 years old, a student.

Husband Of Woman Who Dies In Crash Recovering

DRIVER IS NOT HELD

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon for Mrs. Walter E. Roe, 70 Thorpe street, Pontiac, wife of the chief master mechanic of the Oakland Motor Car company, who was killed last Wednesday when the car in which she was riding crashed with a machine driven by D. S. Denton of Greenvy at the Maple and Switzer roads. Her husband, who suffered several broken ribs in the crash, was removed to his home in Pontiac Sunday from the City Hospital. BIG LEAGUES LOOM FOR THIS BOY

Glen Worthington

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch by The Eccentric.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 29.—King Baseball is out to capture the ace athlete of the Rocky Mountain conference, Glen Worthington, of the Utah Agricultural college.

Sixteen major and minor league scouts have trailed the Eureka baseball club of the Central Utah conference's league this summer in an effort to invade one of the most versatile athletes in the intermountain west into signing a contract. As yet none of them have succeeded, though the tip is out that the New York Yankees, through their representative, William C. Essick, have the inside lane in the grand scramble.

At the moment, Worthington is a first baseman, though a short while ago he was the shortstop on his club. A few weeks before he was a catcher and in this position, according to the scouts, he holds forth exceptional promise.

He is six feet, two inches in height and weighs 185 pounds, and is capable of negotiating a furlong in 16 seconds in baseball uniform. During the first half of the season he played with the Nephi, Utah, club of the Utah-Sanpete-Juab county league, and—believe it or not—Aht 667. And now, in the Central Utah circuit, which is a pretty fast semi-pro organization, they haven't been able to get him out with any more success.

The versatility evinced by Worthington in baseball has been carried even farther in his college career.

Worthington joined the Utah Aggie camp in the fall of 1926 and immediately distinguished himself on the frosh football team, even though he had never seen a football in his high school days.

When basketball time came around the U. A. C. squad found itself in possession of a fine center in Glen, fast as the winds that sweep over the native Wasatch hills. Worthington was all-conference center, though it was his first season.

In football, the fleet and powerful Utah developed rapidly under the tutelage of Coach E. L. "Dick" Romney, and with two years' varsity experience behind the boy, Romney figures to uncover a new grid sensation this fall in Worthington. The big star's 185 pounds of 19 second brown and snow provide the Aggie's coach with plenty of reasons. The Utah Aggie have also found Worthington's speed and power one of the principal factors in their remarkable success in winning the conference track and field championships three times in the last four years. Worthington, in that time has never been beaten in the high hurdles, his specialty, and has finished worse than second in the low hurdles only once. He has been anchor man on three good relay teams.

The western division of the Rocky Mountain conference sponsored no school baseball, but in intramural and inter-fraternity series Worthington did his stuff.

With professional baseball crying frantically for big fellows with speed and power who can catch, it is no wonder that the scouts have set upon capturing this prize beauty.

LOCK UP: Your Valuables in a Safe Deposit Box LOCK OUT: Loss, Fire, Worry and Theft

HOUSE doors can't protect your valuables. Private papers in your own private home are NOT really private.

The doors have locks that can be picked, and key-holes that can be peeped through. Front doors unlock, to solicitors and strangers. Back doors may be carelessly left open to thieves and tramps. And Fire, the red marauder, can go anywhere.

But behind the huge steel door and thick, heavily reinforced walls of our safe deposit vault, and within the double-locked security of an individual safe deposit box, are both safety and privacy for the things you hold dear.

Why worry? Why risk stocks and bonds, important papers, etc., in insecure hiding-places at home, when you can rent a safe deposit box in our fire-resisting, burglar-protected strong vault, for as low as a few cents a month?

The key to your safe deposit box is waiting for you. Come and get it before anything happens.

SHERIFF of OAKLAND COUNTY

VOTE FOR

WILLIAM A. WHEELER REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE

In entering the contest for the office of Sheriff of Oakland County for the first term, we believe that Mr. Wheeler's fourteen years of service under five different sheriffs of this county, as well as his splendid record, qualifies him for this office.

Oakland county's rapid growth has added to the county's population of law breakers. An incumbent of the sheriff's office must be a man who can and will deal speedily with the criminal. Mr. Wheeler's record shows him to be such a man.

We have confidence that Mr. Wheeler will carry out his platform of a clean, business-like, economical and impartial administration of his duties, if elected, and that the conduct of the sheriff's department will be such as to reflect credit upon Oakland County.
