

AUTOISTS FACE TWO JUSTICES

Reckless Driving Charges Land Motorists In Court To Face Charges

Many autoists faced Justice Malcolm Hunt and Floyd S. Buck Monday following activities of the police over the weekend.

Fred Brus, 1923 west Euclid avenue, Detroit, paid a fine of $50 in Justice Buck's court Saturday on disorderly charges made by L. A. Martin, Bloomfield Hills village patrolman.

A $10 fine was paid by Guy Graham, 109 west Humphrey avenue, for speeding 35 miles per hour. He was arrested Friday.

Chief of Police James Anderson charged with reckless driving.

Joe Matchowski, 8376 Kenny street, Detroit, pleaded guilty before Justice Malcolm Hunt, Monday and paid $17. He was arrested by Patrolman William Green who said he was cutting

WE HEARD IT SAID BY—

T. C. Hotelling, assistant postmaster: "Many of us remember the time when Birmingham only had two mail carriers. They delivered mail in the north and south parts of the village but did not deliver on east Maple near the Grand Trunk railway tracks. The reason was that no street numbers had been placed on homes there."

traffic and driving on the left side of Woodward avenue.

Trial of Arnold Sumner, 2357 west Grand boulevard, Detroit, will be held at 2 p. m. today before Justice Buck on charges of reckless driving.

Complaint against the youth was made by Hendrick Brus, 402 Knox street, following an accident in Woodward avenue last week. The Birmingham man alleged Sumner was at fault when their cars collided. Sumner pleaded not guilty to the charge when arraigned Saturday and was released on personal recognizance.

FROM BASEBALL TO GRAND OPERA

Clyde Burrows, above, had two ambitions as a small boy—to become a big league ball player and an opera singer. Now he has realized both. Several years ago Burrows got a tryout as a pitcher with the Pittsburgh Pirates and was with that club for a time. Now he has been signed for a lead with the Philadelphia, Pa., Opera company.

WHO'S WHO AND TIMELY VIEWS

By JOHN O. TILSON

Minority Leader, House of Representatives

John Quinn Tilson was born at Clear Branch, Tenn., April 3, 1884. He is a graduate of Yale university, and entered the practice of law at New Haven, Conn., in 1913. He was a member of the Connecticut house of representatives from 1915 to 1917, and speaker during the second term. He was elected to congress in 1917, serving until 1921, and has been a representative from Connecticut continuously since 1921, his term expiring in 1929. For the past three years he has been majority leader of the Republican party. He served in the Spanish-American war and on the Mexican border in 1916. His home is in New Haven, Conn.

I do years since our present tariff act was for any congress in to pre- was written. Conditions in some vent raids on the treasury. I do not mean this in a sinister sense. It is a danger of crookedness or corruption in this connection. Another effort will be made to re-appoint representation in congress on the basis of the 1930 census, in accordance with the letter and spirit of the constitution. For eight years this solemn duty has been neglected because of the unwillingness of certain states to lose in their congressional representation.

The subject of the national defense is always an important one. This year the principal contention will probably center around the proposal for additional cruisers. Two special problems have arisen growing out of the development of hydroelectric power and tariff laws. It has been seven Somewhat closely related to relief problem, like the poor, seems to be always with us. The greatest difficulty here is to agree upon the remedy to be applied, and to be sure that the remedy is not worse than the disease it is sought to cure.

Macle Shoals in the Tennessee river was enjoyed upon as a war measure to procure nitrate from the air. If a suitable offer should be forthcoming the legislation necessary to its disposition would probably be enacted.

A proposition to erect a high dam in Black canyon to control the flow waters of the Colorado river, provide for a future water supply for the cities of southern California, and the incidental development of water power, was embodied in a bill that passed the house at the last session, and is now pending in the senate.

CHOOSE ELECTRICAL GIFTS

Christmas is a time of pleasure-giving, a time when all of us try to make things just a little rosier for those for whom we care.

In selecting gifts we try to think of something that will be a real boon to the recipient.

Which brings us to this: for the lady household, give an ELECTRICAL gift — for remember, leisure means pleasure.

When she finds that the home has been made a bit more comfortable and efficient through the addition of an electrical Christmas gift, she will have a warm place in her heart for the donor.

In purchasing your electrical items, buy them of us to assure unrivalled mechanical efficiency.

More Time for the "KIDDIES"

An Electrical Gift will be a boon for both Mother and the Kiddies as it will save her hours of labor each day and give more time to devote to the Young Ones. A gleaming Electrical device makes a splendid Christmas gift indeed; they range from the very inexpensive to some of more pretentious price. Yet all are uniformly good—mechanically 100%, and handsome in appearance when sold by—

By All Odds The Most Outstanding Value in Radio!

ALL we ask in behalf of this latest Alphonso creation is that you see it and hear it for yourself. Once you do, you'll agree that at the astonishing low price of $100 it offers a world of value that is without precedent in the annals of radio history. A demonstration in your home will be gladly arranged—without obligation, of course.
