Our Service Men

Know Their Rubber!

F. E. Sternal

When it comes to repairing or rebuilding tires, our boys over here certainly know their rubber.

Honestly, the boys often take a dirty old casing that looks as if it had been used for target practice and the next thing you know it's all fixed ap and good for lots of miles.

A fellow has to have more than a pair of overalls to hold down a job in our shop.

The man who inflates your tires, free of charge, when you wheel up here is trained to look for any sign of unequal, or extreme wear that might ruin your tires.

When he sees such signs, he tells you about it. If the trouble is something in our line we'll fix it. If it needs the attention of your garage, or car dealer, we'll urge you to go-right away.

And a big part of our best service is the kind of tires we sell.
