D'MOLAYS PLAN THEATRE PARTY

Many Members Also Soon To Leave For Summer Camp

Members of the James S. Hasberger Chapter, Order of DeMolay are meeting this Friday evening at the Masonic Temple where they will leave in a body at 7:30 for the Birmingham Theatre. Following the show, they will return to the Temple where they will partake of a luncheon prepared by several of the mothers.

Sixteen members have already made reservations to spend a week at Camp Rademaker, a camp for DeMolays, Masons and their sons. This is more than double the number that has gone on any previous occasion and it is expected that this number will be increased to 20 before the end of the week.

THREE VILLAGERS ASK LICENSES

Applications for marriage licenses filed at County clerk's office Pontiac, show names of three Birmingham persons, Donald M. Ann, Willis, 21, Birmingham applied for a wedding license last week, and William Bahrn, 31, Pontiac, and Ella Hackett, 36, Birmingham.

There are 62 nations in the world having entirely independent government.

INFORMAL NOTE STRUCK IN HILLS SOCIETY DURING SUMMER MONTHS

July has come to the Hills bringing with it its stifling heat and languor. The country grows verdant and the hills are being under the occasional showers and the homes were perhaps never lovelier than they now with the gardens at the height of their bloom.

With the coming of the warmer weather social life becomes less hurried and entertaining becomes simply gradually dwindling away until the Fall season comes again with its rush of functions. Family reunions featured the holiday in the Hills with all entertaining of the simplest and coolest nature.

Informal But there is an informality about the summer functions which makes them even more enjoyable than the winter festivities.

For the younger set the summer season means a round of gay picnics, suppers and dances, with now and then a bench party. Mrs. George T. Hendrie's "Cavern" near Rochester was the scene of one delightful picnic this week at which Miss Margaret-Philips, of Bloomfield Center, was hostess.

Golf and riding are playing an important part in the life in the Hills. Last week the Bloomfield Hills Country club was the invaded by a host of feminine golfers from Detroit and vicinity. Mrs. Manly Davis, of Oak Knob Farms, was to be seen upon the links assisting in the scoring and handicapping last Wednesday. Mrs. Davis was smartly attired in a brown jumper frock and wore a matching felt hat. Informal bridge tournaments often followed these hours of golf with many delightful variations from the usual hand of bridge.

Golfers Here Last Saturday, Oakland Hills Country club drew many golf enthusiasts when the Women's District Golf association presented four of America's foremost women players in an exhibition tournament. Upon this occasion Miss Glenna Collett, once more proved herself America's greatest woman golfer, winning with a 79.

Hurd shows have created much enthusiasm among the members of the Bloomfield Open Hunt club, with the Detroit Riding and Hunt club show following in close succession. Now all interest is centered in the Grosse Pointe show which is to take place this

Allen Gets Gavel Of Exchanges

Robert R. Allen, newly elected president of the Birmingham Exchange club, formally took office Tuesday noon when the gavel was handed him by retiring president C. R. Evans. Mr. Allen had been acting president for several months, following the removal of Mr. Evans' residence to London, Eng. Because of a short visit here Mr. Evans was able to preside over Tuesday's meeting, at which the short ceremony was carried out in the true spirit of Exchange. Other reports, other reports and committee announcements will be made next week, stated Mr. Allen.

BUSINESS WOMEN POSTPONE MEETINGS

Because of the hot weather and the many vacations the Business and Professional Women voted at their meeting last Thursday to discontinue their weekly luncheons and meetings during July and August, according to the announcement made by Miss Alta Symons, president.
