CIVIC LEADERS BACK DRIVE

SCIENCE OF INSTITUTION ON VILLAGE CLAY AS IMPORTANT FACTOR

Leaders in the civic and industrial fields of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills have approved plans for a new community house which is being developed under the sponsorship of the Birmingham Village Attorneys Improvement Association. The new house will be built on a site near the corner of Orchard and Wilshire.

Increase Development

The idea for the new house was conceived during a recent meeting of the Birmingham Village Attorneys Improvement Association, which is made up of leaders from the civic and industrial fields of the village. The association has been formed to promote the development of the village and has already undertaken several projects, including the construction of a new library and the improvement of the village park.

The new community house will be a major addition to the village's facilities and will provide a focal point for community activities. It will be designed to accommodate a variety of uses, including concerts, lectures, and other cultural events. The association has already raised a substantial amount of money for the project and is confident that it will be able to complete the building within a year.

The Birmingham Village Attorneys Improvement Association is committed to the development of the village and is working to ensure that it remains a vital and vibrant community. The association encourages all residents to get involved in its activities and to help make the new community house a success.
