The Home that Smiles a Welcome is that in which the owner takes an interest. This interest is reflected in the care he gives his home—and this is as true of the grounds about the house as it is of the house itself. When a person takes a keen interest in his home grounds he is careful to have the entirety of the grounds well-landscaped, and not just the front and sides. The odd corner—the back yard—receives as much consideration as does the front.

It is such little things that dooms a man's residence "The Home That Smiles a Welcome." Can it be said of your home?
