gave nm the biggest thrill of his business career.

"No," he said, "the greatest kick a man can ever hope to get from business is when he first discovers that he is able to support himself and supply all present needs by his own effort. The biggest job I ever had was one that paid me $12 a week; on that salary for the first time! I was able not only to buy my own clothes but to pay board to my father and mother. I was no longer dependent on or beholden to anyone;"
