Who's Who and Timely Views

World Viewed as in Need of Old Ethical Standards
By JUDGE FLORENCE E. ALLEN

(Florence Ellinwood Allen was born at Salt Lake City, Utah, March 22, 1884. She attended Salt Lake college, Western Reserve university, and the law department of the University of Chicago, receiving an LL. B. degree from New York university in 1912. She served as municipal clerk on several publications before beginning her practice of law in 1914 at Cleveland, O. In 1919 she was elected judge of the court of common pleas, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, and justice of the supreme court of that state in 1922 for a six-year term. She is a Democrat and her home is in Columbus, O.)

THE men at Valley Forge and the wives, who waited, endured more for their ideals than could we today.

What the world most needs today is to come back to the old ethical standards laid down by our forefathers and our foremothers. Honor and honesty and truth were at a very high par in their day. There were no creature comforts then, but they had something which we can't duplicate. They possessed sturdiness and strength and worked for the sake of working. In them lies the strength of our country. They so worked for the love of working that they were willing to sacrifice themselves to take part in the "Great American Enterprise." Women, too, took part, giving counsel and encouragement and exhibiting both a woman's and a man's courage.

We have built up a framework of government which is now being copied by other nations of the world. We were able to do this because men and women worked for the love of working. This government is a government "of the people, by the people, for the people, and not a government of the politicians, by the politicians, for the politicians. There are many fine politicians in politics today, but many politicians have been drawn out of office, because they thought politics a game to be played for their own

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

BEGINNING YOUNG

Psychologists tell us babies are much smarter than we think. Or, if they are not consciously smart they are receiving lasting impressions, almost from birth. Children see things and hear things when they are supposedly too young to understand, and the impressions last all through life. Behavior is affected and life definitely changed for many a child by something that happened to him in the months or years he thinks he has forgotten.

When children are a little older they take in more than we suspect and more than we might wish they did. Lying to children is even worse than lying to grown-ups. Grown-ups expect it and are little impressed. Children are shocked and then changed by a lie.

PATIENCE WITH CHINA

One of the secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. in Shanghai, China, writes all China asks from the rest of the world is a little patience. She will right her affairs, take care of herself, become a great power friendly to the rest of the nations. It took France a hundred years after the revolution really to put her house in order. In the meantime she tried more than one form of government. Everything cannot be expected of China in 10 or 15 years.

For one thing and another the world needs a great deal of patience.

A PLACE TO WORK

"A studio in Greenwich Village with arty folks jolling along on floor, talking, doing nothing, cannot compare with Portage as a place to accomplish things."

The speaker was Margery Latimer, and she was talking about the town of Portage, Wisconsin. After giving New York a trial this brilliant young novelist came home to the house of her parents to do some real work. Now she is working on a second novel. Perhaps she has arrived at a great truth when she discovers that home is a good place to be, to work, to produce. There is a remote possibility that a change may help you, but the chances are that if you can't do a good job where you are, you won't do a good job anywhere.

POISON WHISKY KILLS WOMAN

Two Men Held After Alleged "Party" On Square Lake Road

One woman is dead today and two men are in jail as the result of an alleged drinking party in a shack on the Square Lake road a half mile east of Woodward avenue.

Death came to Mrs. Catherine Portney, 38 years old, as the result of poison whisky, according to Coroner O. C. Farmer who investigated. Deputies claim the half-clad body of the woman lay on a bed in the shack several hours after death while her husband and another man continued the drinking bout.

Both men were arrested by deputies who were called when the noise of the party attracted neighbors. The husband is Albert Portney, 38 years old. The companion is Frank Booth, 61 years old, according to records at the sheriff's office.
