

Seniors Await

80 TO ENTRAIN FOR ANNUAL CAPITAL TOUR

New Points Added in Baldwin Spring Itinerary
LIST IS ANNOUNCED

Next Saturday afternoon the present Senior Washington Group will leave the Union depot in Detroit for Washington, D. C. George Johnson, and Miss Madeline Stickle, who are the advisors for the group, say they will do everything to make it pleasant for the 80 students.

This is to be the most extensive trip ever taken by the Baldwin Seniors on any educational tour, and many new places are to be added to the itinerary of the journey. The strictly new features of this trip are the inspection of the Navy Yard, and a new voyage by boat that is longer than the previous one.

A brief summary of what the group is to do will show how closely the events are crowded together:

After leaving Detroit the party will detain at Harpers Ferry, and walk to Hill Top House for breakfast. When the town has been inspected, a train will take the group to Washington. On arrival at Washington Sunday forenoon, buses will take the visitors to the Cairo Hotel. In the afternoon a sight seeing tour of the city will be taken. Most of the historical places will be visited and after dinner the Congressional Library will be the center of attraction.

Monday morning the bureau of Printing and Engraving and the Pan-American building will be seen. After this the White House will interest the students and President Hoover will be seen. On that afternoon the beautiful Mount Vernon site will be visited; Tuesday the National Museum will hold their interest. It is on the afternoon that the group will get its first taste of shopping.

Tuesday night will be the biggest social evening of the trip, a party sponsored by a chosen committee.

On Wednesday morning buses will take the sightseers to Annapolis and there the cadets quarters will be examined. When the group returns to Washington a boat will be awaiting them to take them to Norfolk and later Newport News. They will then entrain to Williamsburg which is the picturesque site of the Williams and Mary College and a luncheon will be served by the students.

Thursday afternoon they will tour Richmond; that evening they start to Charlottesville. After arriving sometime Friday the journey will be continued to Mount Cello. From this point they will again entrain for Detroit, arriving about 8 a. m. Saturday.

This is to be the largest group ever to be taken on this trip. At present the personnel of the group numbering 81 is:

Dealers Lose Crucial Meet

Birmingham's hopes of final state debating honors were shattered last Friday night when the Mason negative team was given the decision over the local affirmative speakers. Approximately 50 students, who chartered a bus to Mason, heard the debate.

Prof. C. G. Brandt, of the department of speech of the University of Michigan, who returned the decision, stated that he believed the team to be fairly evenly matched but that Mason had a slight edge in their analysis of the case and in proof presented in the rebuttal. Members of Mason's negative team were James Dart, Edward Kennedy, and Howard McCowan.

Birmingham was represented by Norma Martin, Patricia Chandler, and Richard Fleming. These three students have placed Birmingham further ahead in debate honors than ever before. Starting last September among 255 schools in the state elimination contests, they remained undefeated until the debate with Mason last Friday. They have upheld both the negative and affirmative sides of the question. "Resolved, that a federal subsidy for the development of an American merchant marine would be a mistake."

In addition to students, the last debate was attended by Coach and Mr. H. E. Kistler, Superintendent Clarence Vliet, Principal Melvin C. Hart, Mrs. Aris Howarth, Marie Taylor, Mrs. E. W. Hart, Emily Walker, Mrs. J. V. Hart, and Mrs. John Chandler.

Next year will find only one of the present team members back on the platform, Norma Martin. Richard Fleming and Patricia Chandler will be lost through graduation.

The victors of the team have aroused considerable interest in debate this season, and their records have been followed by many villagers, who feel that Coach Corvett and his team have achieved a great deal despite their failure to stay in the final race. They have defeated at Folsom, Mount Clemens, Cass Tech, and River Rouge in which Birmingham had the negative; Wyandotte, Wyandotte and Milan, in which the locals upheld the affirmative.

There are four teams remaining for the April 12 debate at the Shelbourn vs Grand Rapids South, and Spelling vs Mason.

LARGE HOUSE PART OF PLAY'S SCENERY

A house nine-feet high and of Italian architecture with a balcony extending from one of its walls, has been constructed for the art and manual training departments of Baldwin High School, under the direction of Mrs. Helen Kidder and Howard Crull. The house will be used as part of the scenery for "The Singer of Naples."

This is the first permanent stage scenery the departments have ever produced, according to Mrs. Kidder.

Briefly Told

Principals of the various schools in Birmingham visited the Adams Junior High school last week. The group included Magdaline Frederick, former principal of Adams.

The Archery club of the Adams Junior High School under the direction of Myrlyn Smiley will begin practice soon. Several large targets are under construction in the Adams Shop.

An operetta, "In Grandmother's Garden," will be presented by the Adams Grade School April 25. Rehearsals are being held under the direction of Mrs. Vera Fugate.

A grade assembly was held at the Adams School, Tuesday, featured by plays presented by the students. The plays were original, and written by the students. The titles were "A Hundred Dollar Queen," "Lohengrin," and "Three Children in the World," by the fifth graders. The teachers and the play were Mary H. Plumstead, G. A. Ruth Mott, G. B. Margaret McGee, SA and H.

Singer of Naples School Opera Set Tonight

The cast for "The Singer of Naples," is ready today for the final presentation this evening in the Baldwin High School auditorium. The opera is under the direction of Miss Mae Brumsted and Miss Beulah Packard, with classes of the musical department in the cast.

The leading roles are played by George Jassani, as a street singer, Guido Mastiani; Margaret Strand, a countess who "loves to help deserving young men, especially if they are handsome;" Helen Strand, a street singer devoted to Guido; and Robert Lyons, a friend who offers himself to Helen but later gives her up to Guido.

The cast is in Naples, Italy, and Rome.

Tickets have been on sale for the past few days, and are anticipated that there will be a large attendance at the performance this evening.

30 OUT FOR ADAMS TEAM

Between 30 and 40 men baseball practice issued by Coach Elmer Johnson at the Adams Junior High School. Coach Wiseman plans to organize an Adams team, and try to win various positions are being held at practice.

It is hoped to obtain Springdale Park, and Barnum field for practice. This is the first year that Adams has had a baseball team.

PASTOR SPEAKS AT ASSEMBLY

A talk by Rev. R. S. Evans of the United Presbyterian Church featured the Good Friday Chapel program held by the Baldwin Senior High school last Friday at 11:20 a. m. "What Good Friday is," was the subject of the address.

"Good Friday is the day on which the world pays tribute to Jesus Christ. Jesus was of humble origin but he rose in life because he had a mission to work toward," he said.

"Men are degraded or uplifted by their conception of God. Jesus had a code of honor which he followed, and that code was to practice what he preached. Why is Jesus still great? Because he uplifted mankind and died to prove it."

In conclusion, Rev. Evans said, "I hope that no one's vocation keeps him from his devotion to Christ."

The scripture was read by Geraldine Kessler. Earl H. Corcoran took part as master of ceremonies. A vocal solo was given by Mary Emma Green with Mildred Green at the piano.

Two vocal numbers were played by the Baldwin Brass quartet, "Abide with Me," and "Olohe Olohe." The quartet members are Jack Russell, Robert Gillespie, Calvin Morgan, and James Winborn.

Daily practice for both track and baseball is being held by Coach George Johnson on the playground opposite the school.

It may be seen attempting to dodge numerous balls that have slipped past the proposed infield, and pitchers trying to put the ball over the plate. Practicing at school to get the men in condition for the first track meet on April 26, and baseball game on April 26.

The next issue of the Maroon and White will depart from its regular style in that it will carry advertisements. It will have classified and display spaces which have been solicited from students.

The attendance and punctuality banner was awarded to the 9-B, 8-A session room at the Adams Junior High School last week. This is the second time that this room has won the banner.

BALDWIN HAS NEW SONG FOR SCHOOL

Baldwin High School has a new school song entitled, "Loyalty," which was played by the school band for the first time at the Senior High Chapel last Friday. The music was composed by Arnold Berndt in the form of a march. The lyric was written by Robert C. Kistler and set to the music. Margaret Strand assisted in the work by transposing it to a lower key.

The words of the song follow: "Praise Baldwin High, for its deeds will never die. Oh, we'll sing the best far outshines the rest. Oh, we'll sing and sing. Oh, we'll sing and sing. Loyalty will please you honor due. Praise Baldwin's name. It's glory is our dream. Show the cause with step and vim. Oh, we'll sing the pick. And with fighters' hearts. Oh, we'll sing, or lose, their hearts (still true). Praise them, they're for you. Praise Baldwin High, for its deeds will never die. And those who made its fame its glory's name. Oh, we'll sing with zeal. Our love to reveal. Here to you, whether glad or blue. Praise them, we're true."

The class of '27 held a reunion in the form of a dinner at the Fox and Hounds Inn yesterday. Carpenter Hewitt and Harry Bradley were in general charge of the affair and the former class advisors, Miss Emily Walker and Mrs. C. Johnson assisted with the program.

Of a class of 55 about 35 attended.
