WE HEARD IT SAID BY— Lee A. White, village commissioner: "Speaking of saving the village money, I think that large sums can be saved this community by looking ahead to the future, and planning for this future in a partial degree now. Especially is this true in the matter of street widenings and alleys. A large part of our time on this commission is being taken up with street widenings and alley projects; if our predecessors in office had looked to the future we would have saved much troublesome work and detail, as well as the taxpayers' money."
