MEMORIES

Out of the past, on Broadway, there appeared this week Frank Daniels, still wearing his rakish hat and college clothes. He made his big hit in "The Wizard of the Nile" 23 years ago.

Rent or Sell

as big manufacturers all do They don't sell through peddlers or their wives' relatives, but use trained sales forces, sell through experienced dealers.

SHE IS A BEAUTY

Miss Roberta Wells of Portland, Oregon, has been selected as "Miss Pi Phi of 1929" at a roving contest staged by members of Pi Beta Phi, the oldest national women's collegiate fraternity.

MAKING GOOD IN BIG TOWN

New York's a great town if you come here with any particular talent, and, as old man Chapin, a well-known city editor of other days, used to say, "the stars to stand the graft."

SUCH IS LIFE

All Broadway knows that the late Eddie Foy had a Hamlet complex. He cherished the ambition to be able to lay aside the motley of the clown and don the sombre trappings of Shakespeare's greatest tragic character.

LOOKS BELIE THE MAN

General Rafael Nogales is a little, sunburnt, weather-beaten chap, with the heart of a wildcat and the manners of a field mouse. He was a general in the Turkish army during the World War, has been a soldier of fortune for 20 years, fought under seven Hags and loves to sit in the Newspaper Club and listen to the pleasing and varied lies that ebb and flow in those hallowed precincts, twenty-four hours a day.

and a bunch of scribes attended the midnight performance of a Broadway show. Nearby sat a 200-pound six-foot length of noise who annoyed everyone within earshot with inane wisecracks.

Nogales looked sharply at the disturber several times. Finally their eyes met and the gentleman who was giving an imitation of a noisy passenger in the owl car told the general if he didn't like his conduct he was at liberty to get up and go out.

For a minute it looked as if something interesting might happen. Instead, the general grinned, shrugged, arose quietly and

This Is Excellent Cake for Summer DARK CAKE (Mrs. Mary Morton's Weekly Tested Recipe) One cup sugar, one-half cup molasses, one-half cup lard, one scant cup hot water, two eggs, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves, two teaspoons soda, two and one-half cups flour, a little salt, about a quarter of a teaspoon. Mix thoroughly. Do not add more flour, even though the batter seems a little thin.
