THE PARK'S BALLFIELD

Along the ground horizon above, you will note two familiar objects; they are the bleacher grandstand and the regulation backstop from which in the future will come howls as spectators disapprove an umpire's decision as a ball game is being played on the diamond at the new Bloomfield Park, opened this week. Already a few games have been played here this summer. The ball park is just south of the heavily wooded part of the Park where suitable picnic tables and cooking grills have been installed for those who want to save the dining table linen. This ball park is on an excellent level, and in fine shape now for games.

Here is the type of comfort station which Supervisor Moore has had erected in Bloomfield Park. It is located about a half-mile from the clubhouse. Behind it you will notice an elevation of fresh earth, above which appear the tops of several trees; the elevation is the fill being made for the new Grand Trunk right of way over the Park is its water works system, operated with an electrically driven pump and fed through main to points at many places in the 55 acres of park.

Social Call On Police Extended For 60 Days

Patricia Lucas, 32 years old, of Detroit, was in a friendly mood. So she dropped into the Bloomfield Hills police station one moonlight night this week to sort of pass the time.

"Lo, officers," said Patricia. "Patrolman I. A. Martin looked up. "Back again, Pat? Wasn't your last visit of '11 days enough?"

"Oh forget it," urged Pat. "That was just a little vacation. Say, I have an automobile outside full of liquor."

Patrolman Martin looked and while the car was not full, there were four quarts of liquor in it. So Pat is a guest of the county again. This time Justice Buck sentenced her to 60 days.

PRESIDENT TIES GOLFER

Merrill C. Adams, president of the Birmingham Golf club, and Lester F. Dodd, secretary, played to a tie Sunday in the finals of the Directors Trophy tournament.

At the end of the first 18 holes in the morning, Dodd was one up on Adams. The president played the medalist of the tournament at his own game and evened up the match on the second 18 holes. This requires that they play another 36 holes next Sunday to decide the winner.

The tournament for the woman's championship of the Birmingham Golf club was completed with Mrs. C. E. Van Wormer the winner. She defeated Mrs. Rex I. Lee, 6 and 5.

William Lowry was killed at Cleveland in his 281st jump from an airplane when his parachute failed to open.

Many novel excuses have been offered by citizens who try to evade jury duty, but an Iowa man recently advanced one which is probably unique. He declared that inasmuch as his wife had been drawn on the jury he could not serve, because no agreement would be possible.
