

LEGION GETS NEW MEMBERS

Several new memberships have rewarded the efforts of the American Legion, Charles Edwards Post in its annual drive, which is being carried on throughout the month of December. The next meeting will take place December 18 at the Bloomfield Park clubhouse, and all Birmingham service men, whether or not they are members of the post are invited to attend. The business of the meeting will be concerned with revising the by-laws. A social meeting will follow. In the future, according to Lloyd Stanley, Commander of the Post, business and social meetings will be held separately, each once a month.

SCORES ATTEND VENISON FEAST

Birmingham Hunting Club Gives Dinner At Bloomfield Park

Sixty local and nearby men and women gathered Monday in the clubhouse at the new Bloomfield Township Park where, under the capable cooking guidance of Fred L. Tucker and host Y. Moore partook of a venison dinner, commemorating the first annual banquet for "returned home-deer hunters" of the Birmingham Hunting Club. The affair, invitation-in-nature, was under the supervision of Allen P. McGirr, of Madison avenue, president of the Club, which owns and operates 6,000 acres of land up near Alpena.

Following the dinner, which, of course, was inclusive of a number of the best courses obtainable, Robert R. Allen, a member of Birmingham's village commission, and a recent guest of the Hunting Club, offered some remarks, part of which were construed as humorous and part entirely too personal in nature; he was followed by Dr. Fred L. Tucker, whose mighty voice resounded among the rafters as he sought to relate a few of the incidents that occurred up at the camp a few weeks ago, some of which he neglected to admit he, alone, was responsible for. Russell McBride, whose avowed trigger finger is said to have brought into camp a ten-point deer upon whose body a horse harness was later found, read an imaginary letter from an alleged northern homesteader who in turn alleged that one "short, stout Birmingham alderman" about the in-sinuated size and shape of Robert R. Allen, had shot his children "pet deer."

Among those present at the venison dinner Monday night were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Allen F. McGirr, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Y. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Tucker, Howard Masters and his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Iarks, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bayley, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hans, Mrs. Wattle, and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. McBride, Mr. and Mrs. Russell McBride, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moorhouse, John McGirr, Mr. and Mrs. R. Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Coryell.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Louis Randall, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Averill, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Y. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Huston, Mr. and Mrs. Luther D. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chisue, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Moulthrop, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Coryell.
