THE RIGHT SIZED BULB FOR THE BASEMENT
 In the basement, the central ceiling fixture (of the R. L. M. reflector dome type) requires a 100-watt bulb for general purpose lighting. By the use of 60-watt bulbs, the laundry room can be made brighter and more pleasant, and the fruit room and heating equipment relieved of objectionable shadow. But for general basement illumination, the 100-watt bulb provides ample light.

INSECT LIFE

 "Say Alf, an' it's funny, but somehow you'd jest know this was Christmas—wouldn't yuh?"

Dinner Stories

No Quibbling (at repeating office)—ster, I want to be a soldier.
 Sergeant—Fine, what branch do you prefer?
 Please, mister, I want to be a captain.
 "But you can't get a commission."
 "That's all right, mister. I'll take salary and expenses."—Reverly.
 That Was Quick
 An old farmer was picked up on the road by a reckless driver who thought he would give him a lift. After a swift journey he set the old fellow down. Turning, the passenger said, "I thank ee for the rides, sorr."
 "Rides?" asked the driver.
 "Yes, sorr. Ye've given me mo' furt and me last."—Punch.
 Check
 City Slicker—Is this milk from contented cows?
 Farmer (thoughtfully)—Well, to tell the truth, they ain't seemed so contented lately.

 "Hm, what do you suppose it annoyin' them?"
 "Well, near's I kin make out it's these dum fool questions people ask."
 Criterion
 The autoist was bragging, as autoists sometimes do. "Yes; in the last six months I haven't paid one cent for repairs on the old boat."
 "So I hear," said his friend. "The man who made the repairs was speaking of it."—Pothinder.
 Captain at sea?
 Head—Because he was dead.

 Timely Reply
 Irate Boss—Don't you ever do anything on time?
 Tardy Clerk—Oh, yes, sir. I bought my car that way.—Brooklyn Eagle.
