Dinner Stories

Necessary Asset Teacher—Why do you insist on spelling bank with a capital "B"? Johnny—Well, Pa said a bank was no good unless it had a capital.—Chicago Tribune.

Without a Peer An English lord had greatly annoyed his American host by comparing everything he was shown with something like it in England.

that was bigger or better. Finally the American decided he'd find one thing that couldn't be compared and that evening he put a big turtle in the Englishman's bed. His guest had barely gotten into bed before the turtle had his toe. "What's got me?" yelled his lordship running into the hall with the turtle still hanging on. "That," replied his host, "is an American bedbug."

No Index To This You can't judge a book by the cover. It may be the goods or just fudge. But when you get seats for jazzing and eats. The cover charge helps you to judge.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Complete Washout "What would you do if a horse fell into your bathtub?" "Easy—I'd pull the plug out."

Give Him A. D. S. C. "Did you hear about the bright forest ranger?" "No, what did he do?" "Applied for a pension after being gassed by a skunk."

Lo, The Poor Debtor! "You say that financial troubles brought you here?"

hospital visitor. "How did it happen?"

"I was crossing to the other side of the street to avoid one of my creditors and happened to see another creditor on that side. While I was trying to escape a car hit me."—James-Sanford Bulletin.

Visitor: "What is the chief industry here?" Native: "The Labor Exchange."
