A RESUME OF THE YEAR IN BLOOMFIELD HILLS BUILDING CONSTRUCTION: During 1929 building construction amounted to approximately $5 million dollars. NEW ROADS: More than $547,000 was expended in the Bloomfield Hills area on road construction during the past 12 months.

In its dependence, the Village of Birmingham must look to the Public Utilities Commission to see that its prosperity and stability are not subjected to unnecessary hazards because of unworkable transportation rates. It is for this reason that the Village Commission views with astonishment and dismay what seems to be the precipitate action of the Public Utilities Commission in granting a corporation permission on one day's notice to issue a tariff so costly to Birmingham citizens...
