In the World of Humor

First Tabloid/Reader: Do you notice how much alike they are—this young fiend who hacked his father's brains out, and the poor old victim?

Second: Yes, and I hear the boy is tipped by his confession story "A Chip Off the Old Block."

Proud Parent—How do I know that you are not marrying my daughter for my money?

Bold Suitor—We are both taking a risk. How do I know you won't fail in a year or so?—Answers.

Egotist! The man who, when kissing his betrothed, murmurs that he must be the second happiest person in the world.

Conceit! Then there was the conceited thug who, when he had his picture taken for the "Rogues" Gallery, liked the proofs so much he ordered an extra dozen to send to his friends.

"My wife doesn't understand me. Does yours?"

"I don't think so, I've never heard her mention your name."—Tit Bits.

Nowadays, the only sign of toil on a girl's hand is an engagement ring.

"She's just buried her fourth husband, hasn't she?"

"Divorced, my dear, not buried—she never makes any bones about these things."—London Calling.

Father—Betty, I want you to come from the party at a reasonable hour—and not with the milk-man.

Betty—But, father how absurd! He won't be there.—Tit Bits.

Mrs. Decollette: Have you noticed that my new party gown is longer than the others?

Hubbard (giving her the o. o.): Longer? You must refer to the shoulder straps.—Boston Transcript.

Elder Sister—Now, darling, be a good girl and when you grow up people will look up to you.

"But I don't want them to do that. I want them to look ROUND at me."—Everybody's Weekly.

AVOID THE AMBULANCE and POLICE COURT

Courts of Law recognize no excuse for faulty brakes. Better have the brakes attended to before, not after the accident. We inspect and test them free.
