Mrs. Charles J. Skain, U. of M. Graduate: "Possibly Dr. Little thinks far ahead of the time. However, I believe that his stands on the prohibition question in the university and the auto ban are justified. In many ways I believe that he made the university an able president."

Mrs. Lee A. White, U. of M. Graduate: "Dr. Little's trouble with the regents of the university was chiefly in his lack of tact, I believe. It is regrettable that a man of such native abilities and so much intelligence should have lacked the quality to make friends rather than enemies because of his stands. I believe that he was right in the majority of his ideas but lacked the diplomacy to present them to others."

New Way of Fishing
Boatlegger: (to man fishing): Have any luck?
Man: No.
Boatlegger: Try some of this on your bait.
Man pours something from bottle over the worm on the hook and it into the water, soon a great splashing about is heard and the line is jerked up. The worm has a strange hold on the catfish, and was punching him in the eye with his tail.—Portland Advertising Spotlight.
