The Exchange Club's team seems to have abandoned the idea of playing ball. We wonder if it is a case of too many irons in the fire or whether they are afraid to get out and show their lack of talent. Come on fellows don't give up so easily. The exercise is just what you need to take down the wait line.

After all, you know it isn't the winning of games that is the important thing, it is the benefit derived from the effort put forth.—E. E.

Forfeited Games
 Games are forfeited in the Twilight leagues when one of two opposing teams fails to produce at least seven men to start the game at 8:45, the official last-minute starting time.

The Midgets upheld their laurels Monday night in a hard fought game when they defeated the South End boys 5 to 3. The Midgets are a hard lot to beat and so far have kept their slate clear.

Fitch's only other undefeated team in the National League, also chalked another victory this week when they beat the DeMolays to the short end of a 14-8 score Tuesday night.

These two fast teams are going to have a grand fight when they meet. The date is undecided as the contest will be a postponement.

BOOKS

Among the more outstanding books added to the Baldwin Public Library recently are:

All Quiet on the Western Front by Erich Remarque
 A nobly written and acute expression of the inner life of the common soldier.

Young Mrs. Greeley by Booth Tarkington
 A middle-class mid-western tragic-comedy of marriage and business.

Six Mrs. Greenes by Lorna Rea
 With rare selective judgment the author has succeeded in depicting six different individual women who remain types.

The Romantic Princes by Rafael Sabatini
 A romance in the earlier style of this popular writer of historical fiction.

Books of Varied Interests
 Preface to Moral by Walter Lippmann
 Suggestions for the basis of a new ethical system suitable for the Machine Age.

Men, Money and Motors by Theodore MacManus
 This story of the automobile business has unusual interest for people in this part of the country as the names and events are familiar. It is written in a pleasing style.

Masters of Philosophy by Will Durant
 This book has been called the "light-seeing wagon of philosophy."

Intelligent Living by Dr. Austin Fox Riggs
 "Every well-informed, well-endowed and well-intentioned adult wishes to live more usefully and therefore more happily, more skillfully and therefore more pleasantly," says Dr. Riggs and proceeds to give suggestions on how it may be done.
