

UTURE DARK FOR BALDWIN

S. Basketball Team Is Weakened Because Of Graduations

Candidates for the Baldwin School basketball team have undergone nightly practice the past two weeks, although majority of squad is still at ball. While there are several string men back this year, as for a very strong team seem at the present. Many of the stars of last year have been among the those left are not landing as yet. Among the present guard that good are Capt. Hartwell, Berger, and Wedge, all letten. Those of the reserve of the past season are: Evans and Dixon. John andler, Brown, and Lamet are from the second squad who probably see places on the squad. Members of the ball team are not allowed to attend basketball practice until the grid season is closed. At that time Coach Engel rise to the membership to rise to forty men.

Future Looks Dark Considering the inexperience of many of the men, prospects for the first of the season seem to be on the dark side. The remaining men from last season are of medium calibre and are rather green at the game. With the close of the football season new men as well as some old ones are expected to turn out. Coach Engel stated that the squad of first-string men would be cut to 12 as soon as the season is under way. In an effort to have plenty of reserve material for following years Coach Engel will inaugurate a new method this year. Teams will be organized from each class. The different classes will compete and will furnish material for practice games with the regulars. Members of the first team will not be eligible to hold membership in any of the class teams. The schedule this year is one of the hardest yet booked. Many schools of high standing are on it and severe competition is expected.

J. Howard Wendorph, who has been associated with Roseland Park cemetery for 12 years, the latter three as superintendent, is appointed superintendent of White Chapel Memorial Park, it was announced yesterday by C. J. Sanger, president of the White Chapel Memorial association. He succeeds Fred E. Nelson, who has been the superintendent since the Park's inception.

Mr. Wendorph has been actively engaged in cemetery work all his life, with the exception of the time he spent in the government air service during the world war. His father, John A. Wendorph, with whom he worked for several years in his previous connection, is a cemetery architect and planner.

"In accepting my new position at White Chapel Memorial Park," Mr. Wendorph said, "I feel that I am identifying myself with one of the country's finest examples of the modern memorial park. I know of no other new cemetery which has so quickly met with public favor; nor do I know of any which is more stable from a financial standpoint."

White Chapel Memorial Park is situated on east Long Lake road, adjoining Bloomfield Hills. Its sponsors are now erecting in the park a memorial mausoleum, the Temple of Memories. It represents an expenditure of more than two million dollars.

Two perpetual care funds of a half million dollars each are being set aside in trust for the maintenance of the Temple of Memories and White Chapel Memorial Park. The Detroit and Security Trust Company and the Bank of Michigan are the corporate trustees for the respective funds.

WORKMAN DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Funeral Services Held Wednesday For Royal Oak Youth

George McLellan, Jr., 21, who died suddenly Saturday of a heart attack while at work on a construction job on the Carlton M. Higbie estate, Kensington road, Bloomfield Hills, was buried yesterday in Roseland Park cemetery.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. in Royal Oak. McLellan was rushed to the St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Pontiac, by Sergeant Delos Anderson of the Hills police. Death was pronounced instantaneous.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McLellan with whom he resided, two brothers, Roy and Stanley of the same address, and two sisters, Mrs. Edith Chisholm, of Midland, and Mrs. William Haskill, of Detroit.
