

NANCY FRANKLIN RITES ARE HELD

Daughter Of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Franklin Buried At Homestead, Pa.

Nancy Marvon Franklin, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Franklin, 932 Purdy street, was buried at Homestead, Pa., Saturday from the home of her grand-parents following the funeral services conducted here on Friday. The child died Nov. 21 following an operation at the St. George Mercy Hospital in Pontiac. Death was attributed to peritonitis.

The funeral services here were conducted by the Rev. R. M. Atkins, pastor of the Birmingham Methodist Episcopal Church, at the S. O. Wylie Bell undertaking establishment.

Mr. Franklin, who is an automotive engineer for the General Motors Truck Co., brought his child to Birmingham four years ago from Oak Park, Ill., where she was born. She is survived by her parents and a sister, Doris Jean, seven years old. She was a pupil in the Barnum School.

MICHIGAN CROPS BELOW NORMAL

The disastrous effects of the summer drought are plainly evident in the November estimates of Michigan's late-season crops, according to the November report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. Corn, beans, potatoes, sugar beets and buckwheat are returning yields far below normal. Harvesting conditions, however, were ideal and all crops were secured without loss.

Mining and The Telephone

A bell clangs, gates crash shut, and the "skip" sinks rapidly into the earth! Tightly packed with stalwart miners, the car drops down the shaft, the hat lamps fade and the bantering voices recede into the darkness. Down, down, down, a mile or more they go, to blast and pick for copper-bearing rock.

Linking these subterranean workers and their companions on the surface is a telephone system, keeping the miners in constant communication with "the top". On each underground "level", a telephone enables the "shift bosses" to receive directions from the superintendent above, or to report particular developments.

As a safety device, the telephone is indispensable.

The far-reaching telephone wireways are partners of mining, not only underground but in the surface plant, in the offices, and between all points in the nation. The copper, iron, salt, oil, and other mining industries of our state utilize the telephone to sell their products, to buy materials and to direct shipping.

Michigan is proud of her mining industry, proud of her position in the production of these minerals. The Michigan Bell Telephone Company is proud to be a partner of this industry and to do its part in aiding its development.

Our policy—"To continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety".
