THEATERS

LAFAYETTE

William Hodge, favorite of thousands, who has been delighting audiences at the Shubert-Lafayette Theatre, Detroit, for the past week, will remain another week at that playhouse. His new play is "Homicide," by Milton Herbert Gropper and Edna Sherry.

"Homicide" is a play for those who have been looking high and low for an unusual mystery story. The details are gruesome enough, and at the beginning you think you know all about the supposed murder and that you've got a jump on the detectives, when at last you realize you are not as wise as you thought.

Mr. Hodge is superb in his characterization of Inspector Kennedy from Headquarters. His interpretation of the role is not the stereotyped stage detective with a big black cigar who swaggers about as if he alone held the secret or the ability to find the secret of the murder. He is a detective who is actually polite to the ladies and considerate to the men, a distinct human with all human failings among them a weakness for the wiles of the female sex.

Mr. Hodge's success is not due to any studies in schools of dramatics. Nor is it due to make-up or atmosphere. It was brought about through sheer personality and quality, actor's requisites that no school can teach, and in "Homicide" he has opportunity for the best acting in his career. His Inspector Kennedy is calm, intellectual and placid. As he goes about solving the death of Mr. Mortover, the audience feels superior, picking out the preliminary false reasoning of this Sherlock Holmes, but when the curtain falls it has had a grand surprise and it loves Mr. Hodge more than it ever did. Our readers will remember Mr. Hodge in "Straight Through the Door" last season, his first departure from roles of "The Man From Home" type and a real treat is he in his new vehicle.

In association with Mr. Hodge are Henry Herbert, Valverie Bergere, Mary Blair, Margaret Mullen, Hugh Huntley, Wilford Lytell, Maurice Barrett, Coo Chong, C. Russell Sage, Charles Hammond, William Cullen, M. Hollo Webb, Lawrence O'Sullivan, Abbott Adams and Caroll Ashborn.

WILSON

The management of the Wilson Theatre announces for the two weeks beginning Sunday, Nov. 3rd, the musical smash hit of the late Broadway season, Lew Leslie's "Blackbirds," which completed a 15 months continous run at the Eltinge Theatre, previous to an all summer engagement at the Moulin Rouge, Paris, France.

"Blackbirds" is wholly unlike the usual colored musical presentation that has heretofore been offered. It is essentially a revue and not a musical comedy. It carries no story but is a succession of song hits, choral numbers, interspersed with a sufficient number of comedy skits, and boasts of a coterie of fast stepping dancers, both solo and ensemble, that has place this organization unquestionably in the lead in this particular style of stage offering.

As one of America's critics expressed it, "Lew Leslie's 'Blackbirds' as a performance, contains every essential that will make an audience go home happy and satisfied that it has spent an evening in the theatre to good advantage."

The fact that this peppy organization of fast stepping comedians, singers and dancer, kept Broadway in a good humor for almost two years proves its novelty and its worth; and directly after its local engagement "Blackbirds" goes direct to Chicago, where it is expected to repeat its New York success, in length of engagement.

Adelaide Hall still heads the cast of fun-makers which includes Aida Ward, Tim Moore, Blue McAllister, Manton Moreland, Johnny Hudgins, Snakey Hips, the Berry Brothers and others, together with Cecil Mack Choir, the Plantation Orchestra and the Creole Beauty Chorus.

CIVIC

The Glenn Hunter comedy-success, "Young Woodley," by John Van Druten, continues for another week at the Detroit Civic Theatre, with George Macready in the title role. Martha Morton and Barbara Willison will alternate as the schoolmaster's wife, with Hunter Gardiner as the schoolmaster. This sane and sympathetic comedy of young love and boyish dreams ran for months at the Belmont Theatre in New York, where it was acclaimed by critics, theatregoers and educators alike. In "Young Woodley," Van Druten has done for English boyhood what Booth Tarkington did for American youth in his "Seventeen." The author has written a gripping play, with all the necessary elements of fun, love interest, splendid character-drawing, interesting action and boy nature.

Millions of Miles of Constant Testing to maintain the outstanding quality and dependability of The Chevrolet Six

In spite of the fact that a million Chevrolet Sixes have already been placed in the hands of owners, and have proved their performance and stamina by billions of miles of service over every type of highway the nation affords—

—the Chevrolet Motor Company continues to take new Chevrolet Sixes from the assembly line at the factory and subject them to pitiless testing on the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground!

This passion for proof—this consistent refusal to accept any tests as final—is one of the fundamental reasons for the overwhelming popularity of Chevrolet cars. For in no other way is it possible to make the Chevrolet Six so sound in design and materials—so dependable in performance—and so economical to operate!

If you are considering the purchase of an automobile, come in and see the new Chevrolet. You will find that it is more than a Six in the price range of the four. In every way it is a finer car than you ever thought possible in the low-price field!

A 65th wheel speedometer accurately measures speed and mileage on all Chevrolet test runs at the Proving Ground.
