Increase Crew Of Construction Workers On New Railway Right-of-Way

TEMPORARY TRACK DUE

Grading of the Grand Trunk right-of-way between east Maple avenue and Adams road is under way today with a crew of 30 men at work on the section. According to Grand Trunk officials, 276,000 cubic yards of gravel must be removed before the completion of the cut, which is scheduled for mid winter.

At Trowbridge Farms, construction is progressing at a rapid rate with 150 men at work on the 55 foot cut, the longest in any section is progressing at a rapid rate ximately 450,000 cubic yards must be removed from this cut, an average of 4,000 cubic yards being dug daily, officials state.

Add 50 Men

Another crew of 30 men is also at work at the crossing near South boulevard, Pontiac. It is also planned to increase the total crew by 50 men within a month, officials of the Nelson Construction company, announce.

Plans are under way for the laying of a temporary track over the Trowbridge Farms crossing within a month. A dummy train will be run over this track to haul material from the gravel supply north of Square Lake road.

The cut of 57,000 cubic yards in the Bloomfield Estates is completed. Letting of contracts for grade crossings will take place within the month, officials say.

15 Grade Crossings

Fifteen grade crossings will be constructed in the Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills area. At Trowbridge Farms, Derby road and Adams road the highway will pass over the tracks, with a 250 foot cement bridge being constructed at Trowbridge. The grade crossings at Long Lake road, Charing Cross road, Big Beaver road and east Maple avenue will be underpasses, plans show.

Traffic at the Trowbridge Farms crossing is being detoured over Charing Cross road. Although Adams road will not be closed at present, it is planned to detour traffic there over a route paralleling the right-of-way and via Salisbury road. Yorkshire will be used as the east Maple avenue detour. It is not probable that Maple will be closed until January, however, according to officials.

Nelson Construction company workmen are now located in three camps, at Buckingham, Charing Cross and Updyke roads.

INJUNCTION HALTS VOTE

Illegal Method Charged In Southfield School Issue

School district No. 8 in Southfield Township today is restrained from holding the special election planned to decide on a site and school building by an injunction issued in circuit court, Pontiac.

John C. Castle and George Weightman, electors in the district, have filed a suit against L. B. Kimmer, Albert Jacob and Bruce Buchanan, officers of the school district.

The district is served at the present time by the old Brace School on Evergreen road between the Eight and Nine Mile roads.

On August 2 a special meeting of the school district was called to pass a site for the new school. Miss J. Pollitger was then moderator of the district and property he owns was considered as one of the sites. At this meeting it was voted to buy three acres of what is known as the Holcomb property and three acres of either the Politzer or Nostrand properties, the former of which was quoted at $4,800 an acre and the latter at $3,600. Board members are declared to favor the Politzer purchase.

Castle and Weightman are opposed to the purchase of a new suite and assert the former meeting was not regularly called and is illegal. They charge no legal description of the proposed sites was presented the electors at the meeting and that they were compelled to vote on either two sites or none instead of being allowed to select but one site.

Issuance of a temporary injunction restrains the holding of the bond election until such time as the court can hear and pass on the merits of the Castle-Weightman complaint.

YOUTH DIES

HUGO MAC MANUS

RITES HELD FOR YOUTH

Hugo MacManus Succumbs After Illness Of One Week

Private funeral services were held Friday at the Holy Name Chapel for Hugo MacManus, 20 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore F. MacManus of Bloomfield Hills, who died Friday after an illness of one week with scarlet fever.

The young man became ill suddenly a few days before he was due to leave for Georgetown University where he would have been a senior this year. He was returned to his home after his illness had been diagnosed at the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

Since 1920 when he and his family moved to Bloomfield Hills, he had been a popular member of the younger set there, gaining prominence for his ability as a horseman. He was born in Toledo in 1909, and was educated privately until he entered Georgetown University.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two sisters, Miss Alice and Miss Theodora MacManus and three brothers, Edwin, John and Hubert.

OPENING PARK PICNIC RECALLS DAY JACKSON WON PLOW CONTEST

Birmingham of yesterday had its picnics even as the Birmingham of today, but there was a different atmosphere at those picnics of years ago. There was a neighborliness seldom found today and perhaps no gathering better typified that spirit than the famous Grange picnic and plowing match of 1879 at Gilbert Lake which is recalled today by Calph Jackson, of 531 Oakland avenue.

On that same sultry June day more than half a century ago Mr. Jackson plowed the back furrow "as true as a bullet line" that won him second place in the contest. He was then a young man of 22, farming with his father and Benjamin, all of Birmingham, judges for the event, found it difficult to select the winner, so alike was the work of the 25 contestants.

Close Race

It was the straightness of the furrow and the regularity of the turn which counted, but John Snow, E. R. Adams and John Benjamin, all of Birmingham, judges for the event, found it difficult to select the winner, so alike was the work of the 25 contestants.

Much time was spent in the testing and changing of plows and only accredited implements were entered in the contest. Contestants were divided into three classes: three ox horse, two horse team, and boys' two horse team. Mr. Jackson took second place to John Durkee in the first event.

But the match was by no means the only attraction of the day. There was boating and practice for a tub race that a shower of rain postponed. Then the picnic, with the crowds gathered around the huge tables in old time sociability. So the day passed, with visiting for the older folk and dancing for the younger to the music of a fiddle for the young.

Then sundown saw the close of one of the gayest and largest picnics of yesterday.

Unusual Event

Even in those days of picnics and outings a plowing contest was an unusual event, according to Mr. Jackson. "It is the only plowing contest I recall," he said. "It was sponsored by the Birmingham Grange which was then one of the strongest chapters of the organization in the country, boasting more than 100 members."

Mr. Jackson tells the story of the gay holiday and match of 50 years ago when, as a youth, he took his place with sturdy men of long experience cutting a furrow that brought him laurels on that morning of June 14, 1879.

Old men, young men, women, children from all over the county—in defiance of murky skies they came, 1,500 strong, driving up in wagons and "rigs" to attend the long heralded picnic and plowing match.

It was a gala day with flags flying from the hilltrest and crowds assembled to cheer their favorite contestant. More than a score lined up ready for the starting whistle. They were off—turning the moist earth in long, straight furrows. Down the field they went and back with fine regular turns, "baking" in the heat but oblivious to it.

STUDENT LOAN NAMES HEADS

Mrs. H. G. Wood is president today of the Birmingham Scholarship Fund association succeeding Mrs. Clinton Sears. She was elected at the annual meeting of the trustees held last week. Other officers elected are: Mrs. Mable Roy, vice president; Clarence Vliet, secretary; Arthur C. Peck, treasurer; Leigh Lynch and Mrs. Maude Hilty Stroup, trustees.

A treasurer's report shows a great gain in the activities of the organization for the past year. The total assets the first week of September were $8,257 which is a gain of $1,964 during the past year.

Sixteen students are borrowers from the association while four more loans for students are approved for this year.

Commenting on the organization Mr. Vliet said, "The trustees desire to express their thanks for the many gifts received by the fund during the past year and to all who through work for the fund made it possible to help eight worthy Birmingham boys and girls to attend college during the past year. With a gain of over $1,000 in assets, which now amount to $8257.07, the trustees are confident that the goal of $10,000 which was set will be reached during the coming year."

FIRE DAMAGES VILLAGE HOME

Firemen of the Birmingham fire department this week saved the home of J. N. Hadjisky, 776 Southfield road, after flames had done $500 worth of damage.

The building was under construction and a small fire was started in the furnace. This later spread to the first floor. The fire department was called by neighbors.

3 BUILDINGS BEING RUSHED

Large Downtown Structures Are Making Rapid Progress

Birmingham today is passing through one of the most important building eras in its history with the Briggs block, the Hanna block and the Community House all under construction and being rushed to completion.

Work on the building being put up by the Briggs Commercial & Development company is proceeding at a rapid rate with the structural iron frame already completed. A second story is being added to meet the increased demand for rental space. The building will feature 10 stores and a second floor of offices and is situated on the southeast corner of Maple and Woodward avenues.

A two story building of brick and stone to house five stores is being constructed on the southwestern corner of Maple and Woodward avenues at an approximate cost of $70,000. Work is now under way on the razing of the stores on the site, which is owned by John Hanna. Excavation is scheduled to start within a week. The first floor of the building will be given over to stores while a second floor will house offices. The plans call for a frontage of 15 feet on Woodward avenue and 113 feet on West Maple and 77 feet on Pierce street.

The new Birmingham Community House which is being constructed on Townsend and Bates streets is scheduled for completion by Dec. 1. Cost of the structure is estimated at $80,853. The exterior of the building is finished with the exception of porches and entrances, and plasterers are now at work on the interior.

TUTTLE MAKES FIRST BIRMINGHAM ARREST

Police Chief Orra J. Tuttle today has chalked up his first Birmingham arrest. Returning to the village from Pontiac with former chief James Anderson Tuesday they followed a speeding car. When it entered Birmingham it was traveling 45 miles an hour. Chief Tuttle arrested Clifford A. Proctor, 16, of Flint, the driver, who explained he was taking a day off from high school for a 'spin.' He paid a fine of $10 assessed by Justice Floyd S. Buck.

WATER PURE IN VILLAGE, OFFICIALS SAY

Mains Ordered Flushed, However, As Precaution, After Complaint

NOT SERIOUS, CLAIM

Birmingham water is pure and boiling is not necessary, Manager James W. Parry announced yesterday after a conference with Dr. A. W. Newitt, health officer.

Mains and fire hydrants, however, in the north end of Chesterfield avenue were ordered flushed when Fred Mallander, resident of the section, reported to the commission Monday night a sample of water he took from his home showed 100,000 bacteria per one cubic centimeter.

Officials of the village said the test was not taken in the required manner and could not be relied upon. Regular tests taken by the village health department show the water is satisfactory and safe and they declare there is no cause to worry.

Manager Parry said scattered cases of bacteria in water is always taken care of by the village health department which has never found the situation serious.

"Despite the reports of contamination," he said, "not a single case of illness has ever been traced to the water. Further tests show the contamination is not traced to sewage."

The chlorination process used by the village is not adequate to eliminate all bacteria, it was indicated, but officials insisted the situation is not the least bit serious.

BLOOMFIELD PARK OPENED

Weather Keeps Crowd From Taking Part In Celebration

Bloomfield Township park on the Kensington road is officially opened today following the picnic held last Friday for residents of the townships. Inclement weather limited the number of persons present to approximately 200.

The park, now completed, is for use exclusively of township residents. Admittance is gained by the presentation of a pass which will be issued upon application at the township office in the municipal building.

The first glimpses of this year's football squad of Baldwin High School was obtained by many who lined the field while Coach George Johnson put the team candidates through their signal drill.

The Birmingham fire department prepared to give a demonstration in ladder work and to stage a water battle but because of the small crowd, it was postponed.

The Baldwin High School band played and many persons remained for dancing at the club house in the evening.

Races and other athletic contests occupied the major part of the afternoon and a "heavy man's race" was won by Robert R. Allen, village commissioner, who outdistanced President T. Taliaferro, Clarence Hess, superintendent of schools, James Anderson, former chief of police and Ralph Coryell, former village commissioner.

Villagers and the Village

By THE WANDERER

Delivery men asking directions to Birmingham homes are believed to be more frequent callers at the Community House than at the police station. Many inquiries are made there daily for the shortest way to certain destinations. The police, however, are kept busier than they are at the house telling villagers the time of day and night. As many as 50 calls for the correct time come to the police department in one day.

Tuesday is Constitution Day. From May 25 to Sept. 17, 1787 in Philadelphia, Pa., the Constitutional Convention labored over the Constitution of the United States. Today the only observance lies with the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution.

Police who spend the day marking parked autos in Woodward avenue report many valuables left in the cars. They strongly advise against this as too great a risk. "If they want to allow crooks to steal their valuables, they at least ought to make it more difficult for the crooks," one of the officers said.

The eight persons who were killed when the Transcontinental plane in which they were riding this week are martyrs for a new cause: aviation. Two years ago, such a disaster would have set back the aviation industry seriously. Today it is not a blow to the industry because it is so far advanced.

Manager Parry Monday night had a difficult time of it explain-

2 HIT-RUNNERS ARE SOUGHT

Four Men Injured By Drivers Who Flee Accident Scene

Two-hit-run drivers who injured four men and fled are sought today by police of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills. All the victims are reported recovering from their injuries.

Two men working on the Eastern Michigan Railway car tracks in Bloomfield Hills Thursday afternoon were struck by a large truck which skidded through the intersection of the Long Lake road and Woodward avenue and crossed the double car tracks. It struck them before they had a chance to get out of the way. They are Peter Fakas of Royal Oak and M. Lopez, of Pontiac.

The driver of the truck fled on foot without waiting to determine the extent of the men's injuries, police say.

A companion of C. J. Peterson of Royal Oak, the driver, told police the man has been in a nervous condition recently because of the death of a young son. The companion was not held. He gave his name as James Romas, 33 Grixdale avenue, Detroit.

Three suspects taken by police were released when Chief William Putman and Sergt. Delos Anderson said none was Peterson.

Two men struck by a hit run driver at Woodward avenue and Ruffner street Friday evening are recovering today from their injuries while police seek the driver.

The victims are: Fred Schoedel and Jack Miller, both of 198 south Saginaw street, Pontiac. They were attempting to cross Woodward avenue when the car ran them down, they told police. They were taken to the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, and later released.

No clues were furnished as to the identity of the driver, witnesses failing to obtain the license number on the car.

HILLS VILLAGE ELECTS BOARD NEXT MONTH

Allen, Story Unopposed In Election To Be Held Oct. 7

THREE MAY BE IN RACE

Bloomfield Hills village elections to be held there Oct. 7 today give promise of little controversy. The deadline last Saturday for the filing of petitions found Luther D. Allen and William M. Story unopposed for the offices of president and clerk respectively.

Interest is centered in the election of two commissioners. Although official acceptance has not been received from any of the three candidates the commission ticket now shows the M. B. Whitcomb incumbent; H. A. O'Dell and J. H. Hunter, as candidates. Commissioner Thomas W. Taliaferro will not be a candidate for re-election. The term of office is two years.

Registration will be held at the Barbour building 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. Sept. 21.

Judges Wallace and George E. Reehm complete the four man commission.

WORK IS STARTED ON NEW TRAFFIC SYSTEM

Conduits for the new traffic light system on Woodward avenue to synchronize vehicles will be laid this week and the cables are expected to arrive within a few days, Manager James W. Parry said. The lights, ordered to replace those now in use, may be in operation by Oct. 1, it is indicated. The present lights have proved unsatisfactory, officials say.

Soon To Be Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge

They're to be married on Sept. 23. Invitations for the wedding of Miss Florence Trumbull, daughter of Governor Trumbull, of Connecticut, and John Coolidge, son of ex-President Coolidge, shown above together, have been issued. They have been sweethearts for many years. After a short wedding trip, young Coolidge and his bride will live in New Haven, Conn., where he is employed now by a railroad company.

G. S. YAPLE STARTS WORK AS COMMUNITY HOUSE SECRETARY

George S. Yaple today is serving Birmingham in the capacity of executive secretary of the Community House. He took up his duties Monday, being the honor guest at the board luncheon given at Valhalla, the estate of Mrs. T. R. Donovan.

Prior to coming to Birmingham, for five years Mr. Yaple instructed in the history department of the Highland Park High School. For two years he was engaged in the University Social Settlement in Chicago and later went to New York City where he was employed in Boys' club work for four years.

Started In 1917

In 1917 Mr. Yaple did his first work as director of religious education in a city church, an activity which he followed for eight years. His summer months were spent as a director of a boys' camp in Maine and for the past two summers he has been assistant director of Long Lake Lodge in Maine. He is a Dalton, Mass., Lebanon, N. H., Keene, N. H. and Framingham, Mass. In speaking of these he said, "Some of these buildings were larger than the new construction in Birmingham all of them emphasizing the recreational activities such as gymnasiums, bowling alleys, and swimming pools, but none of these is more beautiful or more serviceable than our house is to be."

munity House he hopes to make it a recreational center for both boys' organizations as well as individuals.

In Mr. Yaple's opinion the keynote of the Community House should be service. "I want the residents of the village to know that the members of my staff and I are always ready to be of service," he said. "We aim to be so situated at the Community House that we may be reached at any time."

Likes Village House

"I am particularly attracted to the Birmingham Community House program, because of the range of service and because of the deep interest the members of the Community House association have in the community welfare," Mr. Yaple stated.

While en route to Maine this summer Mr. Yaple visited community houses throughout the east. He mentions in particular those in Dalton, Mass., Lebanon, N. H., Keene, N. H. and Framingham, Mass. In speaking of these he said, "Some of these buildings were larger than the new construction in Birmingham all of them emphasizing the recreational activities such as gymnasiums, bowling alleys, and swimming pools, but none of these is more beautiful or more serviceable than our house is to be."

INFANT GIRL DIES SUDDENLY

Bernice Levina Schlinz, two year old, granddaughter of Mrs. Sarah Burnett, of Bates street, was buried at 2:30 p. m. Monday with services at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schlinz, McKay avenue, Detroit.

Burial was in Roselawn cemetery with Rev. Loney Bates, of Brightmore, officiating. The child died Saturday following an illness of four days. Besides her parents and grandmother, a brother, Richard, survives.

HORSE DIES COMPETING IN WOODWARD TRAFFIC

That Woodward avenue is not the safe thoroughfare for horses it used to be was proved again Friday night when one of four being led to Birmingham was struck by an automobile at the Lone Pine road and Woodward avenue. Bloomfield Hills police shot the animal and then aided in extinguishing a fire which started in the car after the accident. The Hills fire department was called and soon had the blaze under control. The driver of the car was C. D. Bridgeman of Flint. He said he did not see the animals. Harvey Newell, of Pontiac, owned the horses and was riding one of them at the time.

WORKER FINDS JEWELS, POLICE FIND WORKER

One day Harry Seukup, 40, employe of the Bloomfield Hills country club had a small fortune in his hands. The next day the police took it away.

Seukup found a diamond-studded bracelet on the golf course of the club. He took it to a Pontiac pawn shop seeking to pawn it. Suspicions of the pawn broker were aroused at a man of Seukup's appearance having in his possession such costly jewels, so he called police.

The bracelet was owned by Mrs. Otto Kern of Bloomfield Hills who lost it while playing golf. It was returned to her.

EXPECT HOUSE TO OPEN DEC. 1

Tentative Date Set For New Community Building

Announcement today of Dec. 1 as a tentative date for the opening of the new Community House serves as an impetus for the usual house activities which launched into full swing this week.

The entire staff of the House is once again at work with Miss Mary Clark Griffith, hostess, Mrs. Grace Trumbull, director of the employment and thrift shop and Mrs. Gertrude Radcliffe, office secretary, and George S. Yaple, executive secretary.

A luncheon for board members and committee heads Monday at "Valhalla," the Hills estate of Mrs. T. R. Donovan, marked the first gathering of House officials.

At that time preliminary plans for the membership completion campaign to be held Oct. 7 to 17 were discussed and reports of summer work read. According to Mrs. Charles J. Shain, president, it is planned to put on the campaign under the direction of the same committee as staged the 1928 membership drive. Mrs. C. R. Wilson will again head the committee, it is planned.

BRAUN FINED FOR SPEEDING

Joseph Braun, prominent, Bloomfield Hills resident, paid a fine of $15 with the alternative of 10 days in the Oakland County jail this week when he pleaded guilty in Justice Floyd S. Buck's court to speeding through the village.

He drew heavy censure from the court which he has faced previously on a speeding charge. James Anderson, special police officer, who made the arrest said he chased Braun traveling 40 miles an hour.

EXPECT CROWD AT HUNT RACES IN BLOOMFIELD

Record Entry List Predicted By Officials As Starting Time Nears

MUCH RIVALRY SEEN

Bloomfield Open Hunt will be host to the largest crowd ever to throng Oakdale farm course Saturday, Sept. 28, when the tenth annual Point-to-Point and Steeplechase Races and the colorful Hunter Trials will be held, it is planned.

Early indications point to a record breaking list of entries from the surrounding district, with more horses than usual coming from the Chicago stables. The sporting rivalry between the Chicago stables and the Hills horsemen is more intense than ever. Chicago has let it be known that it will spare no effort to take the Bloomfield Cup and the Burns Henry Memorial Challenge Cup to Chicago, and the horses from the finest stables in Illinois will be in every race.

Stiff Competition

It is expected, too, that the Illinois contingent will make a bold bid to re-capture the honors in the Ladies' race, which Mrs. J. A. Blackwood restored to Bloomfield after they had rested a year at Onwentsia.

C. C. Winningham, who is again chairman of the race committee, says that, given good weather, this tenth annual meeting will establish new records for future meetings to seek. The membership of the club was never more enthusiastic and all are working with a willingness comparable only to the weeks in advance of the Point-to-Point meetings held in Ireland, home of the chase, he says.

The program includes six races and the colorful Hunter Trials which caused much enthusiasm last year. The feature race will be the third running of the Bloomfield Open Cup, won in both 1927 and 1928 by the great 'chaser, "Lieut. Seas," first under the colors of Allan B. Sweeney, of Grosse Pointe, and last year under Walter O. Brigg's colors. Chicago wants this cup this year and will send several horses after it, it is understood.

Large Program

Second to the Bloomfield Open Cup, in point of local interest, is the Burns Henry Memorial Trophy, which, R. S. Nichols, the Bloomfield M. F. H., scored an impressive victory last year with Huston Rawls' horse "Puritan." The Winburn stables have twice won the trophy and Col. F. M. Alger held it for a year.

The Metamora Hunt Trophy, the Open Steeplechase, the Ladies Flat Race, the Burns Henry Memorial Challenge Cup and a race for maiden steeplechasers, with the Hunter Trials, complete the program.

The Maiden Steeplechase race is an addition to this year's program which will attract several horses imported from England. It is likely to provide as much contention as anything on the day's card.

According to custom, the races will be run off Friday night by the annual Hunt ball, which this year will be held in the new Riding Ring, the largest privately owned ring in Michigan. This ball is easily the most colorful event of the Bloomfield social season and many vacationists will return to take part.

C. H. Ainsworth, Jos. A. Braun, W. R. Clark, D. J. Crowley, E. P. Hammond, William Hendrie, G. T. Hendrie, B. E. Hopper, Ezra H. Jones, Carl E. Larson, W. G. Lerchen, E. S. Nichols, George E. Phillips, Henry Sheldon, and Charles L. Winningham, form the committee, with C. C. Winningham, as chairman.

STUDENT TOTALS STILL INCREASE

This Year's Enrollment Will Be Over 100 More Than Last Year

Enrollment in Birmingham schools today continue to increase, according to officials, and an approximate total of 2,375 is reported today. This is a gain of more than 100 over last year.

Enrollment at Baldwin High School will probably have mounted to 650 by the end of the month, says Principal Melvin C. Hart. Six hundred and ten students had enrolled last week, and Mr. Hart estimates that 30 more have been added to the list since that time and that 10 at least will enter in the rest of the month. Many students here last year have not returned to school yet, and their return with that of new students will raise the list considerably.
