

SHOWERS CHANGE FALL FOOTWEAR FOR MEN TO REMAIN ABOUT SAME

From time immemorial woman has adored the scented bath—felt indifferently in a hot tub when plunged into waters made sweet with her favorite perfume.

Perhaps no article of dress is more staple than a man's shoes, which tramp along year in, year out, with the same old comfort features.

Then came the popularity of the shower bath, with its time-saving, exhilarating spray—and, beloved as it was, the bath-still habit began to suffer.

In the place of bath salts we now see perfumed waters added to the shower, and find them an excellent base for the dusting powder.

wear from the next. And yet they are there, those unmistakable evidences of newness—and extremely important in the general scheme of things.

In walking and dress shoes toes now show narrower styling. Another new feature is the use of lighter leather than usual in the fashioning of fall and winter shoes.

We like to think of those sloping hills of Grasse, dedicated to the business of turning scents into dollars by distilling the souls of flowers to meet the demands of the world.

Not long ago a statistician in one of our large eastern cities came across a package of long-forgotten ordinances passed years ago.

FALL FURS AND FABRICS

By CECILE

Are you of the individual type, wanting costumes designed for you alone? Then most fascinating fabrics for every occasion await you.

The soft touch of velvet will be felt in all formal matters, this year extending itself from the tip of the crown to the hemline.

In the silk field you will find brilliantly colorful fabrics in those rich shades that are ever typical of autumn.

Silk weaves are various. There are autumn weight crepes, failles, crepe satins and a new Canton crepe of very soft finish but substantial body.

Chiffons as filmy as a cobweb, tulle and taffetas for the debutante; nets of the crisp variety, moires and velvets and a general showing of blacklace are highlights of the evening mode. Plain

FULL DRESS WEAR JOINS POPULARITY

For evening wear the dress suit will be in the limelight during the coming season and is rapidly taking the place of the dinner coat.

Refinement of line, scrupulous attention to detail, sleek perfection in all points distinguish the new formal clothes for fall, and present them in an enviable light that assures them a hearty welcome.

A novelty of the season is the crushed waistcoat—a design sponsored by Finchley (New York)—in a low-cut three-button model gathered in soft folds at the front.

For daytime and sports wear the new woollens are exceedingly smart. Jersey attains a new importance; tweed bobs up everywhere, and combines most effectively with jersey in the fashioning of short jacket suits which feature the skirt and jacket of

Coverlet Important

In the modern scheme of decoration for bed rooms, no mere "spread" suffices. Here, due to the dramatic nature of the new furniture, the coverlet becomes of utmost importance, and luxurious fabrics are the rule rather than the exception.

Among the coverings, broad-cloth and a new flat-surfaced duvetyl that is more like kasha

Shops & Stores

a timely message to this newspaper's readers

"Buy in Birmingham"—how often you have heard the phrase.

How often, too, you have journeyed elsewhere . . . perchance justified in so doing. But are you justified today?

For today Birmingham presents ideal shopping facilities in every line of merchandise to every kind of buyer. Greater stores—greater stocks carefully selected—far above the average.

Your village . . . home . . . schools, churches, library, playgrounds—are all helped greatly by local business.

Your merchants, striving to please, are deserving of your patronage.

Are you justified in journeying elsewhere?
