Villagers and the Village

By THE WANDERER

Little Jimmy Taylor, who arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Taylor, Madison avenue, about two years ago, has a baby sister, Sally Green Taylor. Jimmy, just a month old, was brought to Birmingham Monday afternoon by his new parents from the Children's Aid Society, in Detroit. There he was as a new brother journeyed when he was two years old. Are Mr. and Mrs. Taylor happy? Well, the answer will be found in their perpetual smiles these days, as they go about the affairs of rearing a family. Mr. Taylor, of course, is as proud as anyone you ever saw, and ventured the guess that pushing a baby carriage is good exercise for all men.

For the last two weeks members of the Birmingham Rotary club have been made the beneficiaries of cigars—the offerings of Dr. Harold Boehm and Clare H. Ogden. Dr. Boehm's donation came as a result of his recent marriage, while Mr. Ogden's was made necessary because of the arrival of a baby boy his home Tuesday, at the local Exchange club meeting. Alex Wright, of Lincoln, passed around a box of cigars in honor of the baby boy, John B., who came into the world Wednesday last week. Everything taken into how important mental training may be, the fear of God is the starting point of wisdom. Presupposing your tender interest in the welfare of your child, we would in this day especially invite you to enroll the same in Redeemer Sunday School. We have a splendid corps of teachers and are constantly seeking to attain greater efficiency.

The Sunday School service begins at 9:30 a. m. All members are requested to remain for the regular service at 11:00 o'clock. The pastor will preach on the subject: "Ye are my witnesses." The Redeemer Luther League meets at 7:30 p. m. Doctinal question for this evening's consideration: "What Do We Believe?"

VILLAGE YOUTH AT CRANBROOK

Birmingham boys and girls were among those who gathered 200 strong from throughout Oakland County Saturday at Christ Church, Cranbrook. The occasion was the first annual Oakland County Older Boys' and Girls' conference. Six leaders and 20 boys and girls from the village attended.

The highlight of the conference was the address given by Dr. Samuel S. Marquis, rector of Christ Church, dealing with "Religion in Life." To Dr. Marquis religion is a way of living and being, he explained. He developed this theme, likening a man to a three cylinder engine, the physical, intellectual and spiritual and moral being the factors. "All of these cylinders should be developed and in good working order in order to produce efficient results," he said. "Religion is not an end in itself, but a means to an end. It is the element that makes life joyous and his own early life, outlining his struggle for a higher education. He told of his teaching school when only 17 that he might save money, for a college education. "It was this struggle, however, that brought me doubt of the teachings and faith of my fathers," he said. "I was a young man, full of cynicism and led in teachings against religion." He was called before the board of the school and his radical views, bringing him in contact with a man who was to shape Dr. Marquis' life.

NEW CHAMPION FOR CLUB SEEN

History May Repeat Itself At Birmingham Golf Club

If history repeats itself there will be a new champion of the Birmingham Golf club. It is strange if history repeats itself the champion will retain his title. This odd situation is due to the fact that the same four players who engaged in the semi-finals in the spring tournament are now pitted against each other in the championship tournament. Among them are Bud Willson, club champion, and Richard Craig, who he lost to George Craig, who had eliminated A. F. Richards.

Now Willson and Schildmiller and Craig and Richards find themselves again bracketed together in the race to the title. So if Willson loses to the semi-finals and the finals he repeats the history of last fall, and if he loses he repeats the history of this spring. The results of the quarter-finals were as follows:

Championship fight—Willson defeated C. S. Slack, 4 and 3; Schildmiller defeated M. S. Glover, 1 up; Craig defeated S. A. Willson, 4 and 3; Richards defeated E. D. Moser, 7 and 6.

First flight—C. G. Bennett defeated Dr. R. M. Athay, 4 and 3; J. Madden defeated C. B. Zewald, 5 and 3; W. J. Griffin defeated Hugh Alletton, 4 and 5; W. J. Madden defeated Dr. E. C. Troxell, 2 and 1.

Second flight—Dr. W. C. C. Coates defeated R. L. Lee, 2 and 1; G. T. Jerome defeated Dr. W. N. Holiday, 5 and 4; B. M. Gary defeated W. E. Knight, 5 and 4.

Third flight—E. F. Fuller defeated C. J. O'Connor, 3 and 1; E. J. Boggs defeated W. D. Little, 5 and 4.

Championship consolation—H. Fy. McCurdy defeated Norman Lyd, 5 and 2; L. F. Bost defeated E. R. Nyland, 5 and 4.

One great inconvenience of being head over heels in debt is you have to go to the additional expense of hiring a maid to answer the door bell.—Life.

Rally Day in Redeemer Sunday School will be observed in the regular service next Sunday morning. While the Sunday School has met regularly throughout the summer, the vacation season always means a decline in attendance and efficiency. Rally Day signifies the rallying of our forces for an intensive season of work for the fall and winter months. We are very anxious for parents to realize their responsibility toward their children. A child is a treasure given in trust by Almighty God and its soul's welfare must be to the parents their prime consideration. Our present generation of children needs more than ever the influence of religious training. No matter

Christmas Greetings

Personal - Distinctive Christmas Greeting Cards

More So Than Ever

This will be a Year for Personal Greeting Cards. The effort of an individual to create something original for personal use has often in the past discouraged initiative. But such initiative is unnecessary this year. The selections themselves are so varied and original.

Expressive!

Sentiments for cards this year seem to have been taken from philosophy rather than a poet factory. Meaningful thought and sincerity has been employed in the greeting contents. "Dear" and "Year" and verbose repetition find no place in thought content.

Colorful!

Color of richness and rhythm predominate. And happily—there are some of obvious modernistic motif that actually are delightful.

PHELPS ASKS INDIVIDUALITY

Yale University Professor Places Man Above Planet

The importance of the individual in the scheme of things was stressed by Dr. William Lyon Phelps, professor of English at Yale University in his sermon last Sunday at Christ Church, Cranbrook.

"Every child is more important in this universe than the greatest planet," he declared. "Man can soar above the stars. He is more than a creature of the earth. He is too greatly impressed with size," he said, "yet Athens contributed more to civilization than has all of South America."

Seeking briefly on the disputes of evolutionists and theologians, the professor declared that a truly religious man isn't so much interested in the origin or destiny as in his present opportunities.

"Bernard Shaw, you know, insists that we do not live long enough to be useful. He believes it takes us about 70 years to grow into a man, and then we face a too early grave. Instead, he would have us born at the age of 18, hurry through life's foibles and enter, at about 70, into an age of reason, living on through several centuries.

"But it is my belief that we live long enough to do a lot of harm and possibly break many hearts or to do much good and be a blessing to our fellow beings."

MARIONETTE SHOW PLANS ARE MADE

A performance of marionettes will feature the opening next Thursday of the new assembly hall of the Bloomfield Hills School at Lone Pine and Cranbrook roads.

The show of "Fatterman marionettes" which is being staged under the direction of Charles Duncan and William Mabry, of Detroit, will open at 2:30 p. m. The bill will include "Pan Pine and Donkey Fair" and "Billy Goat's Gruff" and "The Wren, headmistress, is in charge of arrangements.

"Did you hear the terrible news from the golf course? Day before yesterday Sandy MacTavish lost his golf ball!"

"Hoot, morn, what's so terrible about a golf ball being lost?"

"Sandy's lost with it."—Judge, 2 and 1.
