TUCKER ASKS VILLAGE TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Local Men Should Be Preferred On Projects He Declares

"JOBS SCARCE"—PARRY

In view of the unemployment situation, Commissioner Fred L. Tucker has requested that as many local workers as possible be given jobs on village construction work planned for the near future.

At the regular meeting of the Village Commission, Monday night, Commissioner Tucker declared that some of the many unfortunates being provided for through the charity work of Bloomfield Township conducted by R. J. Coryell, township supervisor, might be given employment on the immediate projects contemplated by the village. Commissioner Tucker recommended that Birmingham carpenters and laborers be afforded the opportunity to work on the proposed installation of a new 12-inch main from the Derby Well to the village water system; the installation of another 12-inch main under the new Grand Trunk Railway tracks, and any other paving or construction jobs now contemplated by the village.

James W. Parry, village manager, reported that he would be glad to give employment to as many local men as possible but that, in all probability only a very few jobs would be open on either of the water-main laying projects and that most of the workers required would be municipal employes.

Asks Expense Cut

Commissioner Tucker also advocated a curtailment of expenses on electrical repair work and suggested that the electrical inspector, Alvin Mudge, be appointed to assume additional tasks in the repair of traffic signal lights. Some money might be saved by the employment of salaried municipal employes in the work rather than outside labor, he said.

Mr. Parry replied that it has been the custom to engage Mr. Mudge on most of the electrical repair work and that it might prove unwise to have Mr. Mudge inspect work Mudge had done as a village employe.

Commissioner Lawrence Hulbert advocated an electrical survey to determine how the work on electrical repairs and installations are distributed over a given period of time. Mr. Parry replied that this had been done and that he had the reports on file.

Commissioner Tucker then reiterated his plea that every possible opportunity to employ village workers be taken advantage of. A village carpenter appealed to him the other day, complaining that workers from Royal Oak, Berkley and Detroit had recently been given preference on work in the village, he said.

PUSSIEWILLOW THORNTON

By FRANK J. CIPRIANI
Central Press Staff Writer

Chicago, July 30.—"Operator, please get me Ardmore 3072."

Ding-a-ling-a-ling-a-ling.

"Hello, is this Ardmore 3072?"

"Woof."

"What's that—is this Ardmore 3072?"

"Woof, woof, g-r-r-r-r-r, woof!"

This is not an impossible conversation by any means. Simply call Ardmore 3072 if you happen to be in Chicago some time, and don't be surprised if the response on the other end of the wire sounds like "woof, woof," and a growling "gr-r-r-r."

Ardmore 3072 is assigned to, and listed under the name of Pussiewillow Thornton, 1133 Bryn Mawr avenue. Pussiewillow, in case you have not guessed by this time, is a dog—a likeable, chummy sort of a bull who has the distinction of being personally listed, "animally speaking," in the city telephone directory. And so far as is known, she's the only member of the canine family owning a private telephone, publicly listed, in her name.

Pussiewillow belongs to Mrs. Bertha Stotts Thornton, of the Bryn Mawr avenue address.

Mrs. Thornton is a lover of animals, and a believer in the theory that animals—particularly dogs and cats—are quite as human as people. By that reasoning she feels that animals have a right to be listed in the telephone directory, and so far as Pussiewillow is concerned, she's correct.

Some years ago Mrs. Thornton's favorite pet was a cat, called Gutt. Cat Gutt, too, appeared in the telephone book, and even had a checking account in the First National bank. Out of this account Mrs. Thornton deducted $3.50 per week for board. The bank fund was replenished from time to time with money earned by Mrs. Thornton from magazine stories which she wrote about Gutt.

But Gutt, like all cats, lacked that true sense of fidelity, and strayed away, and so Pussiewillow came into Mrs. Thornton's life.
