

Christmas Is For Children!

Give Dozens of Games

Kut-Outs, Patterns

Furniture "kut-outs" and dolls to be dressed in the latest paper styles, are found in "Krazy-Korner-Kutouts" in a Birmingham store that has a larger showing of children's games and books than any other store within hundreds of miles.

"Peter Rabbit" picture-pastings, Dollhouse dolls and dresses, "The House That Jack Built" for painting and drawing, "Book of Air-planes" to paint, the "Joy Book—Patterns of Jolly Things to Make" keep little minds and fingers busy with pleasant things to think and do.

Paper-Dolls!!

Paper-doll outfits, including jointed dolls with crepe paper materials and trimmings and glue to make dozens of dresses, will make glad the heart of any small girl.

Animal stencil and paints to color inside the cut-out portions, will interest many a child for days and days, and weeks.

Picture cards to embroider will appeal to many children of "small sizes." Other sets include colored embroidery-flosses, crayons to color inside the embroidered lines, glue to paste frames around, and hangers to post the pictures in one's very-own room.

Nursery pictures stamped on lines to be embroidered and crayoned, have mats and glass provided also for framing.

Must Keep Warm

Keeping warm for babies is a matter of having enough silk-and-wool sweaters embroidered daintily with ducks, slip-over and button models are being shown in new materials and designs. Kept fresh and clean in boxes in the stores, thousands of these warm sweaters are ready for Santa to pick up, and drop at houses. Knit sets are popular, too, and helmet caps, Beret-leggings-and-sweater sets are in great demand.

Dainty Wool Coats

Infants' coats in wool and broadcloth, wool lined and inter-lined, in basket weaves and with beaver collars, other models in silk, salmon, pale rose, and tan, embroidered and smocked, and squirrel-trimmed; blue coats trimmed in beaver; and hindquarters of other styles bought from Birmingham shops will delight the tiniest of "the younger generation" as Christmas gifts.

Children with plenty of things to play, balls to toss, hoops to roll, tops to spin, clay to model, blocks to build, tools to make things,—such children are good children, busy children, happy children, children with bright eyes and glowing countenances, athrill with constructive thoughts.

Thoughts of things-to-do with toys after Christmas, new worlds of ideas to adventure into, are what make children so good before Christmas, and for a while after Christmas, in a special measure. So, give liberally of toys and things to play with constructively, when you think of Christmas-giving.

Children make Christmas what it is, a thing of star-dust and dreams and good-will and sweetness.
