

NEW CHURCH IS ORGANIZED

Embury M. E. Church Officers Elected At Meeting On Friday

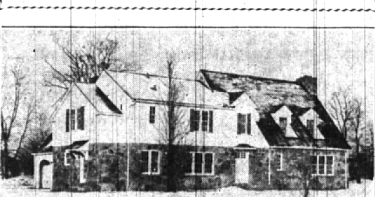

In the naming of the new church formerly known as the Berraville Avenue Methodist Church, on the site of the former Congregational Church, Philip Embury, founder of Methodism in the United States, has been honored, and the church will be known as The Embury Methodist Episcopal Church. Suggestion to this effect, offered by Dr. H. A. Field in charge of the district conference, was accepted enthusiastically by the 15 Methodists assembled to organize the new church Friday night.

Rev. Leigh Hale, organizer of the new church group in Birmingham, and statistician of the Detroit conference, reports that no other church in this conference has the prefix "Embury," and he knows of no other church in the country that has adopted the United States founder of the Methodist faith in this way. Philip Embury organized the first Methodist Church in New York City and built an dedicated the first Methodist Church in America. He was of German-Irish descent, coming to this country in 1766.

At the first sittings of the new church in January, a character sketch of Philip Embury will be given by Dr. Field, and Holy Communion and the resignation of charter members will be celebrated.

Stewards elected at the Friday night organization meeting of the church included: Mrs. Minnie

Villagers and the Village

By THE WANDERER

In addition to their regular police duties, members of the Birmingham Police Department during the holiday season are occupied with protecting local merchants from the men and women who do their Christmas shopping early. And not only that, requests have been made within the past week by villagers that the police department also keep careful watch over evergreen trees that decorate some village lawns this Wanderer learns.

Holly wreaths decorate almost every window in the Community Home and the joyful Christmas spirit has invaded every nook and cranny. Some villagers were so inflamed by the spell of the season that they could not resist to spend a few moments during the past week playing with the many toys piled up in the office of Mrs. Hope F. Halgren when they visited there. The toys will be distributed to poor children.

Capt. H. Ledyard Towle of the Franklin Village Ping-pong team lost no games at all in playing the Birmingham men last Monday night. Towle stands undefeated, in spite of reports to the contrary. The two teams will not meet again until the middle of January.

U. of M. ALUMNI ARE LEADERS IN WHO'S WHO

Ann Arbor, Dec. 18.—Michigan, also occupies a position of enviable intellectual distinction, leading all other state institutions in the number of its graduates listed in the current edition of Who's Who, famous arbiter of national fame.

In an attempt to discover what colleges were training the largest proportion of intellectual leaders, Professors Donald B. Prentice and B. W. Kunkel of Lafayette College, Pennsylvania, made an exhaustive study of Who's Who to discover the number of members holding Bachelors degrees from American institutions. Their first findings, indicated that a college education seemed to have definite relationship to rating in the volume, since of the 28,815 persons listed, 16,433 held this degree.

From a total of 159 colleges and universities listed, Harvard stood first with 1,374 of its graduates on the rolls of Who's Who. Yale followed second with 937, Princeton third with 480, Michigan fourth with 470, Columbia fifth with 462, and Cornell sixth with 461. Of those listed who were graduated later than 1900, the University of Michigan accounted for 2.68 per cent of the total, standing sixth among the 129 in this respect.

While this state supported institutions on the whole occupy a lower position than the old endowed colleges of the East, the investigators point out that the latter produce a higher percentage of the type of professional such as clergymen, college professors, medical men, and few engineers, and other technical men, who are underrepresented in Who's Who. Similarly they point out, women graduates tend to be crowded out in its pages by women authors, singers and artists, many of whom are not college bred. Thus technical institutions, women's colleges, and to some ex-
