VILLAGE STREETS ARE DECORATED

Festival Atmosphere Is Created In Business District By Merchants

Through the artistic efforts of village merchants and the co-operation of the village and the local American Legion Post, Birmingham today is fittingly decorated with spruce boughs, pine trees, wreaths, holly and bright red ribbons.

In keeping with the festival spirit light posts, street corners and store windows have been dressed with Christmas greens. James W. Parry village manager, who announced yesterday that the spruce boughs with which light posts in the business section of the village are decorated were obtained with the approval of the village commission.

Merchants also have decorated their store windows more attractively than in years and the village has taken on the atmosphere of joyous celebration. The Wabeek Building is adorned with one of the largest wreaths exhibited in the village. The wreath is 11 feet in diameter.

WE HEARD IT SAID BY—

Dr. O. O. Beck, local physician and surgeon: "I have a lot of faith in the ability of President Hoover; I cannot help but think that some of the Senators and Representatives are deliberately seeking to embarrass him before the American public."

Dear Santa Claus—
I want gun.
I want dog.
I want a knife

Yours truly

Adjourn Classes Until January 6

Until January 6, meetings of the classes in International Relations, conducted by Mrs. Charles J. Shain, will be discontinued because of the press of holiday social demands.

Tuesday the round-table discussion centered around the problems of "How War Debts Were Incurred, Justification of the Ways, and America's Position At Present." In the afternoon the round-table discussion was demonstrated for members of the Women's Literary Club.

Sixteen lessons have been outlined by Mrs. Shain for the weekly classes beginning in January, conducted each Tuesday morning in the Community House.

Honor New Officers

Honoring the incoming officers of the Pythian Sisters, and the Most Excellent Chief in particular, Mrs. E. A. Adams of North Woodward avenue, a Christmas party will be held in Castle Hall tonight. Appropriate exchange of gifts will be made. Newly-elected officers will be installed at the Christmas celebrations.

Make Christmas all pleasure and no worries —

Have the Money you will need By Joining Our

Christmas Club

Christmas time can be twice as happy, with a little extra money to spend . . . and no bills to worry about.

And it is simple enough to have a Christmas check, if you only plan for it ahead. Every week, you have a little that you can easily spare. It may be a few cents . . . or a few dollars. Put that little away regularly in the Christmas Club. You will never miss it. But at Christmas time it will come back . . . in one big check . . . like a glorious gift to scatter away all worries.

Everyone has some important need for money. It may be for doctor bills. It may be for travel. Or the education of your children. It may be for taxes or insurance. Or for a home of your own.

Some people wish for things, year after year. Other people GET THEM. And the Christmas Club is the way thousands use to change the wish into the reality. Let it help you, too. Join today.
