ANNUAL ELECTION OF WOMEN'S LITERARY CLUB SET FOR MAR. 4

The annual luncheon of the Women's Literary Club will be held Mar. 4 at the Fox and Hounds Inn. Following the luncheon, there will be a meeting and officers for the year will be elected. Mrs. Dewey Kimball will be in charge.

The exhibition Tuesday of Mrs. Alice Hagerman Thurber's paintings in the Baldwin Public Library by the Art department of the club for the benefit of the Student Loan, was a great success, according to Mrs. Clarence Viest, chairman of the exhibition. Many people came to see Mrs. Thurber's oils and water colors in the afternoon and evening.

Foot of Willett Street attracted much favorable comment. Mrs. Moreland said she did "The Dipper Bell," drawn from her daughter's farm, and but recently returned from New York, where it was an exhibition.

At the meeting of the organization held before the exhibition, Mrs. W. F. Toothacker read a paper on the Life and Work of John Sargent, and Mrs. Louis Hascall, chairman of the day, discussed John Ia Farge and John Alexander. Two vocal selections were rendered by Russell McBrine, accompanied by Mrs. J. E. Welch.

Tea was served. Miss Mary Clark Griffith and Mrs. Hugh H. Wellman pouring. Mrs. Mable Smith, assisted by Mrs. E. M. Otterman, Mrs. George Singers, and Mrs. Harry Bayley, took charge of the refreshments and Mrs. G. R. Norton collected tickets. Special interest was attached to certain of the pictures because of their local character. Mrs. W. L. Moreland explained. Some of those were "Sunset at Cranbrook," "The Old Red Oak," painted from the farm of Mrs. Thurber's father at Wing Lake. This will be presented by the Art department of the club to the Community House, "Show at the

MISS RIGG FETED AT MANY AFFAIRS

St. Louis Girl Entertained by Many Village Families

Miss Marian Rigg, of St. Louis, who is the house-guest of Mrs. Harold L. Lauer, of Puritan road, has been entertained at several lovely affairs during her stay.

Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Lauer complimented her guest and Mrs. Frederick Jew, Jr., a new resident of the village, at a tea in her home. The guests were received in the living room, where spring flowers were used in profusion. Mrs. Lorenzo Richards, of Lauer, assisted Mrs. Lauer and the honorees.

Festivity at the tea table, which was covered with a lace cloth and ornamented with a lovely center arrangement of red and white tufts and luring red tapers, were Mrs. Albert Horn, Jr., Miss Dorothy Lauer, Mrs. Morse Campbell, Mrs. Earle Cain, Mrs. James Mock, and Mrs. Samuel Slavov, who alternated in pouring during the afternoon. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Samuel E. Post, Mrs. Mary Breezer Matheson and Mrs. Wallace Dodds.

Miss Rigg was feted at a bridge tea of beautiful appointments given by Mrs. Percy Ludlow of Pine court Monday afternoon.

Guests were Mrs. Lauer, Mrs. Rigg, Mrs. Dodds, Mrs. Horn, Jr., Mrs. Mock, Mrs. Cain, Mrs. Richard Bertram, Mrs. W. C. Ludlow, Mrs. William Chesborough, Mrs. Norton Ives, Mrs. Tyler Marshall, and Mrs. Gordon Johnstone.

Yesterday, Mrs. Marshall, who lives in Grosse Pointe, entertained at luncheon for Miss Rigg at the Detroit Boat club. Mrs. Dodds, of Furitan road, is planning to honor Miss Rigg at a party next week.

CHILDHOOD ROMANCE BLOSSOMS IN WEDDING OF VILLAGE COUPLE

A romance dating from kindergarten days was witnessed Saturday afternoon in the wedding of Miss Dolores McQuater and Dr. Nels Weir Burkan by the Rev. W. C. McKnight, at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Edward C. McQuater, at Chester avenue.

The bride carried a corsage of tallsmann roses and was attired in a gown of pale greenorgette, close fitting and shirred at the neck. Her skirt was full and long, reaching to the ankles. Her slipper were of brocade green and silver. Miss Eloise Carman, the bride's only attendant, wore a short waltz dress of beige lace, with a lace bertha and a full skirt. John Burkan, brother of the groom, was best man.

After a two weeks' honeymoon, Mrs. Burkan will be at home at 383 Henrietta street. Mrs. McQuater announced her daughter's engagement in December. The two young people had been classmates since they first entered the school, and they graduated together from the Baldwin High school in 1923.

WASH D.C. PARTY IS PLANNED FOR NEW BIRMINGHAM GOLF CLUB

Success of the formal opening and dinner dance of the Birmingham Golf club Friday evening led to the decision to give a George Washington party Saturday evening in the clubhouse. Among the members who have reserved seats for this affair are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lyte, who will be hosts to the couples.

The party Friday was attended by 300 members, who dined, danced, and enjoyed the building, opening for the first time. Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills people who were present included Mr. and Mrs. George Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ballantyne, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. James, Mr. and Mrs. Donald T. Stanton, Mrs. George Averill, Mr. Joseph Morgan, Jr., and Mrs. Herbert Zerbe, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tillotson, Dr. and Mrs. John Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lyte, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCurry, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Dubois, Mr. and Mrs. Lane Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Manley, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Swan, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hiett, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hagerzy.

Guests availed themselves of the opportunity of making a tour of inspection.

The house which has an exterior of Spanish, Italian, and Jacobean style. The front door opens into a large entrance hall, which leads directly into a large lounge, two stories high, which is also used for a ball room. Painted beamed ceiling, balconies at each end, and arched doors, carry out the Spanish design.

At the left of the entrance hall and the large lounge is a small lounge, which resembles an informal living room. Above the fireplace in this room hangs a Moorish painting.

At the right of the lounge are the dining room, the dining porch and the grill. In the dining room, there will be Eighteenth Century English chairs and Jacobean cupboard, on which brown, green, purple, amber glass and pieces of old brass will be placed. Curtains in this room will be of coral velvet throughout the house will be of dark green. Curtains in the large lounge will be of brilliant jade velvet, and will be of conservative design throughout the house. The furniture will be of the Spanish, Italian and Jacobean type, covered with Spanish linen.

The men's lounge, which will adjoin their locker room, will be equipped like a smoking room with red leather furniture. The women's dressing room, on the second floor will have yellow and blue chintz trimmings.

The clubhouse was decorated with roses, tulips, jonquils, and ferns. A six piece orchestra furnished the music, and at midnight, a buffet supper was served. Over the weekend, the club was open for inspection by members and members of district clubs.

At a recent meeting of the Birmingham Baldwin club held at the home of Mrs. William B. Cavan of Pleasant avenue, Mrs. Cavan was elected president and Mrs. L. A. Farquhar of Lake Park drive was chosen secretary. It was decided to limit the roster to 24, its present membership.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Packard, of Harmon avenue, are at Stungis, Mich., where they are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Peter Radebaugh, Mrs. Packard's parents.

Mrs. Francis King, of Bloor street, entertained the Birmingham and Pleasant Ridge members of Kappa Alpha Theta in home yesterday afternoon.

VILLAGE ARTIST IS GIVEN HONOR

Friends of Mrs. Alice Hagerman Thurber, Birmingham artist, were delighted to learn recently of her election to membership in the Academy of Science, Arts and Letters, a national honor society with its Michigan headquarters in Ann Arbor. The annual meeting of the society will be held in Ann Arbor in March. On this occasion, Mrs. Thurber will exhibit by request "The Old Dinner Bell," and "Still Life of Indian Pottery," and at the same time she will become formally a member of the society.

An exhibition which opened Saturday in the Detroit Galleries in the Fisher Building of the works of the Detroit Society of Woman Painters and Sculptors contains some of Mrs. Thurber's oils. One of these, entitled "Tulips" was reproduced last Sunday on the art page of Detroit newspaper, and was favorably criticized.

A group of 16 children was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Packard Friday evening for the pleasure of their son, Jimmy, in the celebration of his birthday anniversary.
