VILLAGE PLAYHOUSE IS SCENE OF LOVELY ST. VALENTINE PARTY

Valentine decorations transformed the Village Playhouse Saturday evening when the "Village Players" dancing club made merry at its third party of the season.

Red hearts were hung on the walls and over the fireplace was a large red heart pierced by a silver arrow. A blue velvet curtain on which were hung more hearts pierced by arrows, draped the sides and back of the stage.

Centering the stage was a long banquet table covered with a white satin cloth, the sides of which were hung with hearts and valentines strung on ribbons. Small, old-fashioned bouquets of red sweet-williams formed lovely centerpieces for the table, and at either end were red tapers in antique silver candlesticks.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Babcock, of Lone Pine road, entertained at the party, and the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. George F. Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hillen, Dr. Alec Johnston, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Stans, and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Hart.
