This hearty menu for a day was served for three persons. I like the idea of serving graham or animal crackers with a pudding instead of cake or richer cookies.

Today's Recipes
Crackers Mold—Four cups cranberries, two cups water, two cups granulated sugar. Boil cranberries with water until tender.
Train. Add sugar and boil eight to ten minutes. Pour into wet mold. Cool.

Chunk Pickles—Seven pounds pickles. Soak in strong salt water for three days. Soak in cold water for three days. Drain and let stand three hours in boiling alum water. Preserve three pints of strong vinegar.
Use pounds of sugar, one-half pound of celery seed, one-half pound of allspice and one-half pound of cinnamon bark.

Celery Par Excellence—One pound celery, diced, one-fourth pound green pepper, one medium-sized carrot, one apple, one-half pound nut meats. Chop all ingredients finely, chill. Serve on lettuce leaf with mayonnaise and neese balls.

Veal Loaf—One and one-half pounds veal (chopped), one-fourth pound salt pork (chopped), crackers, two tablespoons cream, one-half tablespoon lemon juice, one teaspoon salt, pepper, onion juice. Mix ingredients, pack in bread pan, bake slowly three hours, basting frequently.

Suggestions
Grape Dip
Grape jelly can be served on ice cream instead of the more usual sauce. Any fruit or preserves not so firm could be used instead, but grape is especially good.

To Dry Galoshes Heat two ears of field corn but the oven and place in galoshes over night. The corn will absorb the moisture and leave galoshes dry by morning.

Maple House
Bring a cupful of maple syrup to boiling point, then pour it over the beaten yolks of three eggs and beat until cool. Whip a tint of cream with the egg whites until stiff, mix with the custard.

Two Ways Of Making 'Em

Here are the latest styles in women's coiffures as they were demonstrated in Philadelphia at the annual beauty festival of the American Society of Beauty Culturists. Freely Hilton, left, of New York City, is wearing the De Haven Bob while Violet Bradley, also of New York, is exhibiting the Wilfreda Bob. Take your pick.

THE THREE DOCTORS

"Master Minds Of Radio" Make Up Entertaining
Nonsense As They Go

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY
Central Press Staff Writer

Cleveland, O.—"The Master Minds of Radio" are with us today. Dr. Pratt, Dr. Sherman and Dr. Rudolph. Better known to you fans as "The Three Doctors." Did you ever heard such a mess of nonsense as they put together in one program? Well, they make it up as they go along—right "out of their own heads. Only the songs, of course, the music is always known to them, but very often the words are made up as they go. They scarcely see one another until about five minutes before time to go on the air. They make up the only team we know of who work entirely extemporan-eously.

How They Appear
Dr. Pratt is tall, dark and lanky.
Dr. Sherman is medium height and has brown hair. Dr. Rudolph is shy and retiring, is light and good looking. He is the pianist, a versatile and charming fellow.

The other two doctors are more aggressive. Dr. Rudolph seems almost too modest and retiring for his own advancement. He has to be sought out and pinned down when you want to find out anything about him. He was really an intern at the hospital. He made his radio debut several years before he hooked up with Dr. Pratt and Dr. Sherman.

Dr. Pratt and Dr. Sherman were both born in Appleton, Wis., at least Dr. Sherman was, and Dr.
Pratt lived there from his boy-hood. They used to gather around the piano winter evenings and harmonize. The neighbors sent in no complaints and the habit grew until they were quite adept at "getting two smiles where one withered before," in their own words.

The Interview
It is impossible to get a coherent interview with the three doctors. Here are some answers. You imagine what the questions were:
If they are not here.
"You have a public?"
"We're loose with them."
"What school did you attend, Dr. Pratt?"
"The University of Bologna.
Here I received my Ph.D. degree."
Dr. Pratt spent five years as a freshman at the University of Michigan.
"It was in Appleton that we originated our first platitude. It was, 'Be true to yourself—to all others is pure.' People were literally awe-struck."
"We never call ourselves an artist or a radio star. That is the lowest form of animal life. I can't stand much more of this, I doubtless."
"A little knowledge is a dan-girls thing. So we keep in the dark as much as possible.

Elaine
Now you blame us for not being able to tell you much about the early background of the three doctors of the blues. They write songs, too. Their favorite seems to be, "Oh, Linda, How I Wish That I Were You."
They like it because when they feel like it they can switch off to,
"Oh, Missin' You, How I Wish That I Were You." Or to Amelia Earhart. Count Von Eckener—any old body. "What do they care! As long as the music and you like it."

STYLE WHIMISIES Seaming is used in the newer frocks to shape the garments and also for interesting treatments.

It is said by those in the know that plenty of lace trimming will be worn this coming spring and summer, and that flowers will blossom in every buttonhole.

Billy Grey, 5, of Levy, Ark., dragged his 3-year-old sister from their burning home which he had accidentally set on fire.

May Reach Senate

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former Democratic governor of Wyoming, is being discussed as a candidate for the senate seat left vacant by the death of Senator Francis Warren. It elected she would be the first woman to sit in the senate. In 1922, Mrs. Rebecca Felton, of Georgia, served for one day by special recognition.

most advanced styles in attractive wash frocks, these MARCY LEE WASH FROCKS excel themselves. Pleatings, concentrated fullnesses, graceful flares, the shortened waistline, and the lengthened skirt, all are featured in these modish frocks.

Linen ensembles for street wear, pique straight lines for shorts, fluffy batistes for the informal bridge, so delightful and varied are these easily laundered cottons, that every woman must have, perforce, at least three.
