

SOME "INSIDE THE TENT" STUFF ABOUT CIRCUS HERE LAST TUESDAY

By W. Stoddard White
On the go all the while, working, sleeping, eating in tents, a new town every day, the circus friends all the time; comparative...

Caro, Bad Axe, Harbor Beach, Sandusky, St. Clair, Birmingham, James, Rome, Hamilton, Howell, St. John's, Alma, Iron, Charlotte, Marshall, and Hastings. Two show towns, the circus town in a separate town, except on Sunday which is taken for a day of general rest.

Up At 4 A. M.
After the performer's hard day in the Barnett Brothers show is over at about 11 p. m. he or she is able to go to sleep until 4 or 4:30 a. m. Then the show trucks get out and the first fleet of trucks gets out. Average trips between towns are 50 miles, so by 8 or 9 o'clock in the morning the circus is on the road.

Range of Pay
All the performers eat together in a large cookhouse, not by company as by preference, Mr. Jones says. The employers believe that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach and that 185 employees are well-fed to insure good work and contentment. Their pay runs from $8.00 weekly for the negroes on the crews to $160 weekly for the highest paid performer.

The true circus is incomparable without its parade at noon before the show in the afternoon. The Barnett Brothers show lived up to true principles Tuesday with a parade advertised for over a mile long, containing the principal performers, both animal and human, from the show, as well as three bands.

Mr. Lynch has been connected with school boards for many years. This is his first term as secretary. He succeeds Rolla J. Corryell.

Several important animal acts are kept out of the parade, however, the circus men say. Eight or ten of the performing troupe are nervous, so they must receive special care and cannot be taken out of the tents.

Mr. Jensen was elected Monday night to the office of secretary, succeeding in that capacity Ray A. Palmer.

is "on the lot" in a new town, and the performers are free to go into town or rest until their performance starts at 2 in the afternoon.

Mr. Corryell was re-elected by the school board to the office of treasurer, which he has held for several years.

For the circus, life is not quite so easy, if any it may be said. From the minute the crowd gets in the big top for the night performance, the work starts. Each crew, that in the big top and that in the sideshows, works separately.

Dr. Hutchinsson, who lives on Lake Park Drive, was voted into office for the first time when he defeated Melvin J. Deer.

As soon as the performers are through with their work, they are able to dress and go to bed for the night, though they must be up at 4 a. m. to get ready for the next day's work.

Each crew has its own housing, which is made up of tents and canvas. Each performer is responsible for his own housing, which is made up of tents and canvas.

Life in a nomadic circus, which moves from town to town, is a day-to-day moving, but it is up to a better form of circus troupe than the railroad circus, in the opinion of G. S. Melick, general announcer for the Barnett Brothers circus.

Leaves that the few hours the performer has before the show starts are of great benefit, and then, too, he is well-slept in his tents and under more crowded conditions. He claims that there is more of a home life in the individual show than in the circus in this type of show than in one on the railroad.

The Barnett show has a long season. This year it started April 5 and will continue until the middle of November. The colder months in the spring and fall are spent in the more southern states. One year the circus wintered in Canada, but the unusual climate affected the animals that men and women died, and all winters are now spent in the circus headquarters at York, S. C.

COMPROMISE
Daily we are up against the necessity of the desirability of his own way all the time. One has to compromise, go half way, one can't get, do as well as one wishes. The danger is that we shall compromise too much.
