

DIVORCE SUIT ANSWER FILED

Mrs. Bertha Olin Replies In Cross-Bill To Her Husband's Charges

Emil G. Olin, tree surgeon and landscape gardener, living at 907 Southfield road, who filed suit for divorce from his wife, Bertha, charging that she struck him with a broom and whipped their three children without cause, has been answered by Mrs. Olin in a cross-bill filed last week in which temporary alimony is asked. The date for the hearing on the case has not been set.

In his bill of complaint, Mr. Olin charged his wife with having struck him with a broom, accused him of paying too much attention to other women when she had no reason to do so, and that his wife attempted to end her own life in her answer. Mrs. Olin admitted having struck her husband and

Villagers and the Village

By THE WANDERER

Patrolman Luman Martin of the Bloomfield Hills Police Department returned Sunday from a Wisconsin training camp where he enjoyed a two weeks' vacation.

Chief Russell Moore of the Bloomfield Hills Fire Department returned last week from a fire department convention at South Haven where he inspected the many exhibits and attended several lectures. "Most of the time was spent in active study at the convention," he said, "and it was only for a brief time each evening that one could find relaxation."

During the heat of last Sunday night, Joseph Newman, auditor of The Eccentric, like many others of us, could not sleep. Mr. Newman's difficulty was not alone due to the weather, however. He was enduring, as best he could, the throes of a tooth-ache, or rather, the throes of a cavity where a tooth had recently been. Mr. Newman sought relief in the sounds of the radio. But to do so was to his misery, and later, his inspiration, campaigners both for Mayor Charles Bowles and against Mayor Charles Bowles, were heard in their political ravings. The inspiration then followed. Mr. Newman, who is an artist of no mean ability, then took out his board and drew a very engaging picture of a crying infant. The picture is now on display in the window of The Eccentric and the artist's interpretation is "Detroit, An Infant With Political Colic."

Many Birmingham residents in downtown stores last evening were entertained by Warren Gamaliel Harding Patterson and Jimmy Williams, two colored boys who without the aid of music, did very creditable tap dancing. Warren, who is nine years old, lives at 677 Adelaide street, and Jimmy, 12, comes from 670 Napoleon street, both in Detroit. One was fat, and one was thin, but they kept together pretty well, considering.

Declared that it was in retaliation for his having struck her. She also admitted in her cross bill, that she had attempted to end her own life, but declared that he had forced her to the point by his reprehensible actions.

Oil Company Asks To Cut Down Tree
A petition of the White Star Refining Co. to cut down a "half dead" tree at the south east corner of Woodward avenue and Oak street, Monday night was referred to the village manager and the village planning board for an investigation and a hearing on the petition was set for August.

The reference to the tree being "half dead," brought the remark from commissioner Robert R. Allen that "it was the first such petition admitting any life in the tree proposed to be razed."

POOR PARIS!
New York, according to a booklet released by the Merchants' Association, has passed Paris as the center of the American women.

KLASSY KIDS
There's a new, swank baby-buggy ready for infantile Park Avenue when it returns from Newport and abroad this fall. It's an aluminum vehicle with a disappearing windshield, balloon-tires, spring and snubbers, a hand crank, special compartments for toys, tools and bottles. It's a miniature motor car, minus the motor.

GOOFY GOTHAM

LINE WAS BUSY
He walks up to the other day about an Australian philanthropist who walked into an institution and asked to see the head, "on private business."

Very well, replied the philanthropist. "I'm the way you treat poor people I may well treat this up," and he tore up a check for $50,000 and handed the fragments to the secretary.

MIDGETS LEADING TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Swamp Southern Club, 19 To 0, With Penetration Goals. Fitch Team, 13-5

Scoring almost at will, the Midgets of the Twilight Baseball League Monday swamped the Southern team, 19 to 0, to retain their position as the league, while the Postoffice nine was defeated by the Fitch team, 13 to 5.

The Southern team garnered seven scattered hits while the Midgets piled up 22, scoring 18 runs in a fourth inning and five in the last of the sixth. Ladd hurled for the winners and Westerly for the losers. The Fitch team opened their half of the first with eight runs.

The feature game today will be played between the Midgets and the Fitch team at the diamond on the corner near the present Grand Trunk track.

QUACK, QUACK!
A most important piece of compilation in the new rogues' gallery of medical quacks, prepared by the New York Health Department, its scope is nationwide and lists the names and pictures of more than 25,000 rascals, who have nothing to sell but false or harmful medical advice, at outrageous prices.

The information is available to individuals all over the country.

GRADUAL INCREASE IN INTEREST OF BOYS AT PLAYGROUND, REPORT

Playground activities under the supervision of H. M. Smiley, director of physical education, with headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. building, have been gradually increasing but have been somewhat hampered by the extremely hot weather, Mr. Smiley reports.

Numerous games are being played in the building itself, where ping pong and other indoor games are afforded. The boys are also braiding rope for ornamental and practical uses and one of the boys is making bows and arrows.

Plans for a decathlon, Aug. 23 are being made but many more entries are needed before the contest can be assured. A tennis and basketball tournament at the Barnum School, also is planned, but the entries in this event are few, Mr. Smiley reports.

First round matches for the Lady Directors' Golf and Country club were played off yesterday afternoon among those who qualified a week before. A round will be played each week for the four coming weeks.

The Forest Lake Country club is the scene of a three-day medal tournament for women members which began yesterday. Prizes for low net and low gross will be awarded in class A and B.

Sixteen entrants turned in cards yesterday, with Mrs. C. G. Fredmore's card low in both classifications. Her score was 88, handicap 8, net 80.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Reid, of Adams road, entertained about 35 relatives and friends at their cottage at Cass Lake Tuesday evening at a supper and swimming party.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Vantes, of Southfield road, are expected home this week following a three weeks tour in the East.

Miss Roberta Chissus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Chissus, of Dorchester road, spent last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brooks of Southfield road.
