

A. A. U. W. WORK WINS HONORS

Pres. Hoover Asks Report Of Advance Made By Local Chapter

The advanced work of the education department of the American Association of University Women, conducted under the direction of Mrs. Cora Ferrar, has been so outstanding that President Herbert Hoover has requested the department to make a report in a White House conference on parental education, it was reported Monday in the report of the Monday at the annual meeting and picnic of the association held at Mrs. Harold S. Gray's home at Lake Angelus, Birmingham.

It is one of the two committees in the country to be honored, according to the report. The report of the international relations group, led by Mrs. Charles W. Shain, showed that many groups had written requesting the Birmingham chapter's method of procedure. Mrs. Shaw D. Baldwin, chairman of the Fellowship committee, reported that the Birmingham chapter had contributed more cash to the national fellowship fund than any other Michigan chapter, irrespective of size. Reports of all officers and chairmen of standing committees were read.

The appointment of the following women to serve as chairmen of standing committees was announced: Mrs. Horace P. Shaw membership; Mrs. E. F. McKinney program; ways and means Mrs. L. B. Reid; education, Mrs. John Ormond; legislative, Mrs. Arthur Hogg; college information, Mrs. Paul L. Penfield; fellowship, Mrs. Harold S. Gray; international relations, Mrs. C. J. Shain; social, Mrs. Louis Rutherford; publicity, Mrs. P. J. Hyman; and nursery school, Mrs. W. A. F. John.

Club members are already making plans for a style show to be given the first week in September at the D. J. Healy shops. On this occasion, college students will show their fall wear at school and college.

The Eccentric is justly proud of the list of candidates who are competing in this exciting "battle for votes." It seems that each section of the state has chosen its brightest and most energetic leader for its representative and these favorites are well fulfilling the expectations of their hundreds of friends and supporters in their respective communities.

The race, as the finish of the big first period approaches, is truly a neck and neck affair. Remember, no one candidate has any material advantage over the remainder at present, and the amount of subscriptions that each is able to turn in before the close of the first period may tell the tale.

Now For The Finish
And now for the whirlwind finish. Now for the sensations and the surprises. These are the days that will test the resourcefulness of the candidates. Here is where their courage upholds them and makes them worthy of their hard-earned votes. Sometimes, too, supreme courage urges them on when they tire and that is the GREATEST FIGHT OF ALL.

Votes will pile up rapidly during the next few days. The LIVEST part of the competition is now at hand; and while the leaders are on the same footing, at the same time those who want to win will be afforded the opportunity of the entire campaign to win votes.

From now until June 23, the close of the first period, is the time counts.

Mrs. W. S. Wilson, of Dothan, Ala., has elected to membership in the Rotary club of her town and is said to be the only woman Rotarian.

A dozen members of the bar were asked to act as defenders. Edward L. Bryant was the legal representative of Mr. Ellerby, the defeated candidate. He was also the author of the letter sent to the Circuit Commission Monday night.

It read, in part: "Enclosed herewith find two sets of ballots, one set of which is marked 'old ballots' and the other 'good ballots.' These are copies of all sample ballots on file in the office of Oakley Distin, who is in charge of the office on Registration and Elections at the City Hall in Detroit.

"My reason for sending these forms to you is that they may be found to be of service to the Clerk when election counts and re-counts are made in the village. They will certainly tend to reduce indecision and partiality, and will greatly assist in obtaining the true legal count.

"If they are found to be of value to the village, I shall be pleased to have you file them with the Village Clerk. Most of these ballot forms have been passed upon by the Supreme Court.

Yours very truly,
Edward L. Bryant."

The commission, upon the motion of Commissioner Charles E. Lewis, moved to have the letter placed on file.

"Particular interest to the workers is the announcement of the Birmingham branch of the Healy Shops would donate 10 per cent of the proceeds it received on one Tuesday of each month for a period of a year. The money will be used for carrying on of the Community House work.

doubt as to the advantage of the proposition," he said, "probably would result in increased building costs, the architects advising certain additions to and revisions of the original plans to conform with what have been originally conceived by the home owner or builder.

"We have had so many boards lately," he said, "back playing boards, advisory boards, suggest boards, that pretty soon we'll have 'board walks.' We have then said, however, that Mr. Allen has no objection to an architects' board provided that its members would serve without remuneration and that its powers would be limited to their advisory capacity. Commissioner Lawrence Hubert, who said he believed the services of the board of architects should be had at no cost to the village.

The game was of the larger species.

"The game in Africa is astonishingly plentiful," he said, "and contrary to many persons' ideas of big game hunting in Africa, most of it is not done in the jungles. There are many kinds of wild animals in these jungles, of course," he said, "but most of the hunting is done in the open on the great plains, where the animals wander about in the brush.

"Are Primitive People
The Negro camp followers and guides are very primitive. They employ the sign language a great deal and their oral language is a jargon of words and phrases, a great mixture of the languages of the white men who have settled in Africa, including the English, French and German. There are many superstitions among the natives. They do not bury their dead, but expose them to the wind and scavengers quickly dispose of the corpses.

"As an example of their primitive ideas," he said, "I recall a case where two Bush men were missing. He explained by saying that he was afraid he might contract lockjaw and created a proper order for the steel, cement, mines, rods, lumber, coal, food, and houses, to be made for him.

"I have not had time yet to look into the educational activities and the self-government. I will leave this until such time when I will be able to carry on a conversation

CENSUS WORKERS CONTINUE COUNT

If You've Been Missed Notify Director Of District At Pontiac

Census authorities at Washington today announced that it is not too late to turn in your name, if you have been missed by the official census enumerators. District Director Fisher, supervisor for the Fourth District of Michigan in which Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills are included, says that all residents who have not yet given the information concerning their residence here may send such information to him at 518 Riker Building, Pontiac.

The increase population of Oakland County affects the status of the Circuit Court commissioners, the Probate Court commissioners, county government positions. Unofficially, Circuit Court commissioners will select the old cases before them, but after the announcement the fees will be reduced to such a point as to necessitate the placing of commissioners on a salary basis.

Completion of the count in the district is expected to take several more weeks and the final count will probably not be made for several months, Mr. Fisher said.

gives me plenty of time to go around and observe.

The first thing that strikes you is the seriousness with which they are applying themselves for the five year program of industrialization. The latest slogan of the court is complete the five year program in 1930.

Like U. S. During War
The nearest picture I can draw you that of a poor but very industrious newly-married couple to build a new house.

The willingness with which they co-operate to realize the necessary national economy and conservation of resources is surprising. It is something like the military spirit of the United States during the World War.

The agricultural tractor is perhaps the chief emblem of their new life. All their efforts can be symbolized by it.

You will be interested, of course, to hear about the churches. In many places, there are as many churches in Detroit as there are gasolin stations in Detroit. They are building about them is that they are being neglected. It is a neglect of maintenance that they have been so neglected. It appears to me that in the past, instead of spending money to recolonize the existing ones, they just built new ones growing every class. The Church of the Saviour is perhaps the best of any and if anything, it is fully retrained and appropriate. During Faston Week I wrote in several times to the church where I was held there daily, and heard some of the excellent church music for several seasons so famous. One of the sermons was an ordination service at which a priest was given a bishop's crown, and half a dozen aspirants were ordained into priesthood. It was a spectacular service.

WE HEARD IT SAID BY—
Clarence Viles, superintendent of schools: "What Birmingham schools want is an increase in the assessed valuation, which would allow them more money for building programs and perhaps permit a reduction of the tax rate. In addition, however, we need an appropriation in the budget for a part-time dentist and a part-time doctor school. I believe that next winter there will be a great necessity in our schools for them."

St. James Church Picnic At Pine Lake

Members of the St. James Church Sunday School will hold their annual field day and picnic next Wednesday, June 13 at the "Friendly Holiday House" at Pine Lake. Automobiles taking the picnicers to the lake will leave the church at 9:30 p. m. A program of games and swimming will be held in the afternoon. The family basket picnic luncheon will be held at five o'clock.
