"Ancient and Modern Nefariousness, alias Membership and Hypnotism, Demounced" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, June 1. Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Have ye not seen a vain vision, and have ye not spoken a lying divination, whom ye say, The Lord hath said; albeit I have not spoken?" (Isaiah 13:7).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life and Being are of God. In Christian Science, man can do no harm, for scientific thoughts are true thoughts, passing from God to man." (p. 149).

WHO'S WHO AND TIMELY VIEWS

By NORMAN THOMAS
Chairman, Committee on Public Affairs, Socialist Party

(Norman Mattoon Thomas was born at Marion, O., Nov. 30, 1884. He is a graduate of Princeton and Union Theological Seminary. An ordained minister in the Presbyterian church, he was pastor of East Harlem church and chairman of the American party in New York City, from 1911 to 1918. He was (winner of World Tomorrow and editor from 1918 to 1921), and associated editor of The Nation the next two years. In 1924 he was a candidate for governor of New York, for mayor of New York in 1925 and 1926, and for president in 1928, all on the Socialist ticket. He is the author of several books.)

Unemployment insurance is no sense a matter of charity but of justice. It is a recognition of the duty of society to provide for workers when for no fault of their own they are not needed. Under a system of chattel slavery, every master had to do as much for his slaves. The only "rugged individualism," to quote President Hoover's phrase, in our modern economic order, is the rugged individualism of great masses of unemployed workers who have to shift for themselves as best they may when there is no work.

For the financial community the federal reserve system which has been reasonably effective in averting panics. For the business and manufacturing community, and, to some extent, for the farmers, congress is providing a tariff of abominations, the products of pure logrolling which will add millions to the cost of living. For the farmers farm relief machinery has been set up with good intentions if with somewhat dubious results. The well to do and the rich have been given a wholly unjustified reduction in income tax. Nothing has been done for the masses of the unemployed.

Unemployment insurance is not only a matter of plain justice. It will have positive beneficial results besides the relief of the most desperate want. It will powerfully stimulate manufacturers to plan some extent for the elimination of seasonal employment. It will do something to reconcile them to the shorter working week necessary for the elimination of technological unemployment.

It will moreover, make easier for the workers to organize since it will give them a sense of security and deliver them from their dependence upon the welfare schemes of private employers.

Further remedies for unemployment would ideally include a national labor code covering hours and night work and the prohibition of child labor. With regard to child labor, at least, congress has done its duty, and the result is up to the states, which should, however, be reminded of the importance of getting rid of the labor of children in order to provide work for adults.

It is, moreover, of the utmost importance that the federal government should take the lead by precept and example in establishing a five-day week. It is a monstrous evil that the employer should continually pay for progress in machines and the use of machinery. Each mechanical improvement should divide toil and increase leisure for the masses of the workers rather than making unemployment for great numbers of them.
