Handsome Compensation.—"What did father say when you told him you were going to take me away from him?"

"He seemed to feel his loss keenly at first, but I squared things with a good cigar."—Til-Bits.

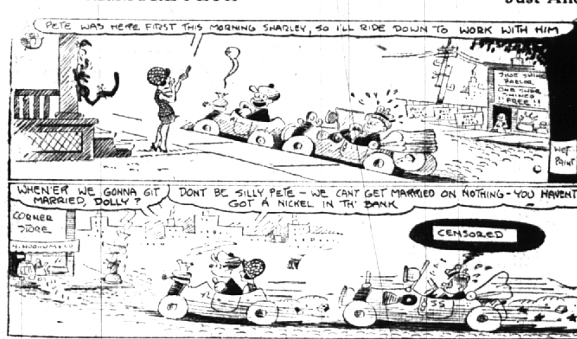

Anxious Visitor: Do you really think you can make me well, doctor?

Medical Man: Without a doubt. Your case is just my specialty. I've treated a patient for over twenty years who has exactly the same ailment.—Answers.

No Stand-Patters?—The first thing we read this morning was the comment of a noted educator who said there are two kinds of colleges in America. Undoubtedly there are—those that wish they had fired the coach last fall, and those that wish they hadn't.—Camden, (N. J.) Morning Post.

Never Mind the Ear-Muffs.—It was necessary for taxation purposes to decide which side of the Canadian and United States border a farm, which an old lady had just purchased, actually lay. Surveyors finally announced that the farm was just on the American side of the border. The old lady smiled with relief. "I'm so glad to know that," she said. "I've heard that winters in Canada are terribly severe."—Philadelphia Star.

Hands Tied.—Old Mose Parker was pretty sick, and the dandy doctor promptly put him to bed and laid down all sorts of rules and regulations as to sleep and diet. After he had gone, Mose turned to his wife and complaining.

"Mandy, how does that dore fool doctor reckon ah's gwine to eat breast ob chicken every day if ah ain't got mah ebenin's free?"—Stratford Beacon Herald.

In the Way
"Well, Erie, how did you like your first day at school?"

"It was rather fun, but there was a very old man in front of the class and he kept spoiling the fun."

Good Judge
"Geo, this is an old chicken."

"How can you tell?"

"By the teeth."

"But chickens don't have teeth."

"No, but I have."

Life.
If capital punishment is ever universally abolished, we hope an exception will be made in the case of the merchant who sells you a shirt that will shrink at the neck.

Touching Tale.—She touches up her hair, She touches up her face, She touches up her eyebrows, Her folders and lace; She touches up her thumbnails, Her fingers, one two three; She touches up her dupres; And then she touches me!—Life.

Confidence
"Honey, lend me five dollars, will ya?"

"Sure, sweetheart, I have only four dollars and seventy-five cents."

"S'all right, Sugar. I'll trust you for the other two bits."

Firmah and Firmah
"Well, Sam," asked the aviator, "how would you like a trip among the clouds?"

"No, sah!" exclaimed Sam, fervently. "Ah stays on terra firma, an' de no firmah de less terrah."

Pains of Literature.—Officer (addressing servant).—"There is a pile of rubbish over in Koushako Street that ought to be hauled off."

Sergeant.—"Very well, make your report." Officer sits at his desk and nibbles the end of his pen for several minutes, then snatches his rag and makes a break for the door.

Officer (sharply).—"Where are you going?"

Sergeant (sheepishly).—"I'm going to drag that rubbish over into Maple Avenue.—Christ Science Monitor."

Revised Version.—Sunny Mother.—"Yes."

"Oh, then, let me say my prayers over again—more carefully."—Detroit News.
