Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Stormfald, of Adams road, were hosts Sunday evening in their home at a dinner and bridge for 10 guests.

Mrs. Young Moore, of East Maple road, entertained the Rev. and Mrs. Henry S. Evans and Mrs.
Charles C. Hoffman at dinner Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. William O. Stevens entertained, Monday evening, at the second of a series of dinners. At a table center with a silver bowl which held pink roses, and was flanked by lighted tapers of pale green, were seated the guests, including Mrs. John F.
Shaw, Captain Edwin T. Pollock and Mrs. Pollock, Mr. and Mrs.
Joseph Hunter, Col. Edwin S.
Geoghegan, Mrs. Palmer Bradfield, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Lorch, Jr., Mr. John T. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs.
Isaac Justus Osburn, Vope.

Mrs. L. W. Porter, of Baldwin avenue, will entertain in her home at luncheon Friday preceding the Symphony concert. Guests will be Mrs. Irving Babcock, Mrs.
Whiting Raymond, Mrs. Frederick Boynton, Mrs. Charles J. Burgess, Mrs. F. H. Mellinger, Mrs. Gordon Lefebvre, Mrs. Gordon Constant, Mrs. Norman Lytle, Mrs. G. J.
Mecham, Mrs. George Salisbury, and Mrs. William Salisbury.

Separate Skirts, Jackets Back

Left, yellow flannel jacket with tweed skirt; center, dark flannel jacket with green skirt; jacket of navy flannel, blue and white tweed skirt.

By LUCY CLAIRE

We are back again to separate skirt, blouse and jacket, after the manner, if not the style, of 25 or 30 years ago. The tuck-in blouse has brought back the separate skirt, and the separate skirt has brought back the separate jacket, which is a new version, or new handlings of the cardigan, all for sports wear, of course. You will find these types largely sponsored by the college girl, who cannot bother to go but the campus during the college term. She wants a skirt with a few changes of blouses, and a neutral jacket she can slip into for campus strolls.

What the college girl adopts for campus wear usually becomes the sports costume of the young girl for country wear in all parts of the land. So we shall expect to see jackets and skirts that, while being worn in perfect harmony, were not exactly designed for each other. In fact, the jacket may have been fashioned in one part of the country and the skirt in another, even as far apart as California and New York. You can now have two or three skirts to go with one jacket, not to mention the number of blouses to go with one skirt, in this type of costume.

Cardigan in New Guise In these feminized versions we find that inverted tucks, high placed buttons, belts, and even yokes, have graduated the humble cardigan to full fledged jackets of the 1930 model. Who would accuse the jacket at the left with its tucks at the waistline, its narrow belt and patch pockets, of being a cardigan? It is of yellow flannel, and is here shown with a separate skirt of yellow tweed, or tweed with yellow threads running through it. As the tweed is sure to have considerable black or brown in it, the black or brown felt shoe with the black or brown felt hat, or the crocheted or knitted beret, would be the correct accessories.

The center sketch shows a jacket of dark green flannel, featuring a yoke treatment and novel pockets, with a skirt of lighter, but not light, green in a harmonizing tone. Either black or green shoes and hat would look well with this costume.

In the third model sketched we get nearer to the cardigan than in either of the others. This is a jacket of navy flannel, with simulated lapels stitched down and continuing into the closing. Rows of stitching trim the bottom of the jacket. With this is shown a skirt in blue and white tweed.
Blue kid shoes and a navy beret are the best bets as accessories.

While these models are distinctly in the morning or sports class, they are not especially designed for active sports, therefore do not call for the active sports four-wear or head coverings. Though they are here shown in flannel, the same types may be had in jersey, silk crepe and shantung.
The tuck-in blouse is perhaps a little more appropriate than the jacket, for this type of jacket.
The skirts sketched, it will be noticed, are designed for the tuck-in type of blouse.

When Mrs. Ellen Torvin, a widow, met Charles Ellingham of London on the bank of the Thames and demanded $10 she had lent him he pushed her into the river.

Have you ever tried eggs with sausage in place of the usual ham or bacon and eggs? Here is the recipe. The menu was planned for three.

Today's Recipes

Baked Eggs with Sausage— Prick six sausages all over, place in a baking dish, bake until they begin to crisp (about fifteen minutes). Pour off the fat, cut sausages in inch lengths. Arrange around the edge of the dish, slip in three eggs, pour two tablespoons melted butter over and bake six to ten minutes. Serve in baking dish very hot.

Butterscotch Tartlets—Cream one cup brown sugar and one-eighth cup (one-fourth cup) pound of butter.
Beat into this one egg, one and one-half cups of raisins and one teaspoon of vanilla. Place this filling in tart shells made of rich pie crust. Bake in a moderate oven about 25 minutes.

Lima Beans with Chops—One-half pound dried lima beans, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon mustard, one tablespoon sugar, one tablespoon finely chopped onion, one-fourth cup tomato catsup, one pound pork chops. Cook beans until they are almost tender. Season with salt, sugar, onion, mustard and catsup. Pour into a large flat baking dish. Add liquid if necessary to cover the beans.
Then place the pork chops, cut through the fat edge to prevent curling, on top of the beans.
When the pork chops have browned on one side in the hot oven, turn them over and reduce the oven to low heat. The slow cooking of an hour to an hour and a half develops a delicious flavor.

Suggestions

Bloomer Pockets
A mother writes that she sews pockets on the fronts of all her daughter's bloomers. This serves to distinguish back from front, and when ironing she puts a handkerchief in each pocket.

Bathroom Tumbler
Paint a small milled milk shaker white and use for a bathroom tumbler, if you have children. It is less easily broken, declares a mother of small children.

Company Luncheon

For even a company luncheon an entree, a salad and dessert are quite sufficient. There are numberless combinations of creamed meats and fish, served in patty cases or on toast points, which may be used for the main dish.
Serve the salad with this course.
Grilled plate with watercress; stuffed tomato salad; nut muffins; banana whip cake; tea.
Scallops and oysters au gratin; cabbage, celery and tomato salad; nut butterscotch cabinet pudding.
Veal loaf; parsley butter potatoes; salad; sugared almonds; powder biscuits; pumpkin pie with cheese cover.

Shaping Plants

If geraniums, begonias, coleus and other house plants begin to send out branches at all sorts of awkward angles, cut off pieces of these so that the plants return to a seemly shape.

Ham Mousse

Here is a splendid way to use up bits of left-over ham.
1. tablespoon gelatin.
2. tablespoons cold water.
2. tablespoons butter.
2. tablespoons flour.
1 cup milk.
1/4 teaspoon salt.
1/4 teaspoon onion juice.
1 1/2 cup ground ham.

Changing the Subject

"I'll admit the correct perfume can make or break a girl, but dry cleaning is important, too. Mother sends all our clothes to Ridley's, for, she says, then she knows they will be absolutely spotless and odorless. If I say it myself, my frocks look nice on me, but I give Ridley the credit for keeping them new-looking and fresh. Their Miraclean process is the last word."
